TURK-GREEK WAR PERIL AVERTED

Solution to Long Battle Over Reparations Is Declared Found

LAUSANNE, May 26.—In the face of a war threat, the Turks and Greeks found a satisfactory solution of their long dispute over reparations today.

After a three-hour conference with the allied representatives, it was announced the controversy was "practically settled."

Venzalos, leader of the Greek delegation, upon emerging from the council room, shouted to the waiting newspaper men: "Peace!"

LONDON, May 26.—The war menace between the Turks and Greeks has been averted by the conference at Lausanne, a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph reported this afternoon. The controversy over reparations was said to have been averted.

LAUSANNE, May 26.—Faced with war, the Turks and Greeks showed a more conciliatory mood in the special conference called this morning in a last-minute effort to settle the dispute.

The tension here is somewhat slackened following exertion of pressure by the allies on the Greeks. It is believed that in view of this pressure the Greeks will not leave the conference but will listen to new proposals.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 26.—Allied admirals and generals went into conference with the British ambassador here today to discuss policies in the Dardanelles if Greece and Turkey carry out their war threat.

Simultaneous reports from the Maritz front, where opposing troops are mobilizing characterized the situation as extremely serious.

M'Adoo Campaign Strategy Bared at Capital, Claim

By LAWRENCE MARTIN. (Copyright, 1923, by United Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Henry Ford's name will go before the Democratic convention in 1924 as a presidential candidate unless he expressly forbids it.

Ford will not be interested in the Presidency, as he said today, in the same breath in which he outlined a constructive national and international campaign which reads like the platform of a Presidential candidate. But whether he is temporarily not interested or simply holding back, the plans of some of the most astute politicians in the Democratic party require that Ford be in the race—for a while.

The whole plan of the McAdoo Presidential campaign now being pushed with aggressiveness is to use Ford and Ford support to put McAdoo over. A two-thirds vote is required to nominate in the Democratic convention. This is difficult to obtain and in 1924 unless some amazing harmony intervenes, it will be unattainable by any but the strongest.

Ford's strength is what politicians call "natural strength." It lies among the people and not with the politicians. The politicians, not the people, control a national convention. McAdoo strategy is to let the Ford popular strength build itself up, accumulating national convention delegates and there and then let the politicians eliminate Ford in the convention with the result that most of the Ford strength in the convention and the country will swing to McAdoo.

FORD ADVOCATE OF STRONGER U. S. NAVY

(Copyright, 1923, by United Press) DETROIT, Mich., May 26.—Henry Ford today declared that:

- 1.—The United States navy must be strengthened.
- 2.—American power must be increased.
- 3.—The courts must be made subordinate to the people.
- 4.—Railroads must be re-organized and centralized, possibly under some form of government control.

The automobile manufacturer, who is reputed to be the richest man in the world, incidentally said he was not interested in the presidency and asserted that the financial center of America is passing from Wall street to the Middle West.

For the first time Ford, whose fame as a hater of militarism is world-wide, voiced his belief that conditions are now such as to make increased naval and air forces more vital than participation by the United States in any character of international world court. He frankly expressed his distrust of both the world court and the League of Nations, as these plans are now promulgated.

Sees U. S. Policing World.

"The time may soon come when America may have to police the world," Ford said. "We can do little to help the people of Europe now, until they do more to help themselves and we can do less with our money in Europe now than ever. The people of Europe must first set their own houses in order and clear away the rubbish of the old worn-out systems of special privileges before we can assist those that really need the help in an effective way."

"I am not afraid that the development of our navy and our air force will make this country a militaristic nation."

"No man in America hates war as I have more hearty dislike for military trumphy than I, but there are times in every community when it is plain that policemen are needed and I think this is true in the world right now."

Ford is much more amused than interested in talk that associates his name with the Presidency.

Unimpressed by call to nation-wide informal poll on presidential possibilities made by Collier's Weekly, in which his name led the list.

"Yes," he said and laughed. "I saw it, but that doesn't mean anything. Next week some one else will be in the lead."

"My interest in politics was never less than it is today. My job here at the Ford works was never bigger or more interesting. We are producing seven thousand cars a day and by next year we will be producing ten thousand cars a day. I believe the prosperity of this country is fundamentally sound. Of course there will be some pauses and perhaps some slight reactions but they will not be important."

"The people of the country are getting back to work, and that is responsible for the present good times. If every man in the country worked six hours each day, the prosperity of this country will break all records."

There are two big outstanding problems before America today that soon must be solved. One is

HOLD COUNTY FIELD MEET AT POLY

Procession Includes Representatives From 40 Troops

By TOM LEWIS

Hundreds of visitors assembled here for the Lions convention today had opportunity to judge for themselves as to whether Orange county compares favorably with other California counties in the strength and training of its Boy Scout organization.

Headed by the Santa Ana high school band, S. J. Mustol, director, and under the watchful eye of Scout Executive Roland Dye, scores of boys representing virtually every section of Orange county, staged a colorful parade in the downtown district.

Bearing their troop flags and the national colors, these boys, remarkably well-trained and showing the evidences of patient practice, assembled at the high school at 11 a. m. and received final instructions from the leaders concerning the line of march.

Expect 1000 at Meet

Then, heads erect and with orderly design, they marched through Ross street, Fourth street, Third street and other main thoroughfares to the polytechnic school, where they were to be in attendance when the field day exercises were at their height on the athletic field at the high school.

Troops in line when the parade formed included Newport Beach, Balboa Island, Garden Grove, Tustin, Fullerton, Anaheim, Santa Ana, Huntington Beach and many other cities and towns. First aid and signal corps units were also included in the formation. Hundreds of parents and relatives of the boys, as well as many out-of-town visitors were in attendance when the Scout field day events were staged this afternoon on the athletic field at the high school.

Immediately after the parade the Scouts returned to the high school grounds, where luncheon was served and snappy talks were given by those in charge of the field meet.

Troops Reviewed

The field meet was scheduled to start promptly at 1:30 p. m., with the formal review of the troops. As each troop passed the judges' stand the boys executed "eyes right," while the officials stood at salute. Troops were to pass the judges' stand at intervals of three minutes.

In the "dressing race" of fifty yards, the Scouts were stationed fifty yards apart. In this contest, the first Scout carries a staff to the second Scout who, dressed in shorts and gymnasium shirt, returns the staff, dressing on the line, in the order named—breaches, shirt, stockings, laced high shoes, coat, belt and balling contest each troop was to be allowed a team of three. Each team was to be given a block of wood, matches and a small pail of water. Members of the team furnished their own hatchets and knives.

Other features of the afternoon program included:

Troop demonstrations, in which each troop was given ten seconds in which to present some particular feature of Scouting.

Wall scaling race, featuring boys engaged in scaling a nine foot wall.

Flapjack cooking contest.

First-aid race and mass flag drill.

First prize was to be given to the troop scoring the largest number of points, with second prize going to the troop scoring the second highest points. The district having the best and biggest representation was to be given third prize.

Officials selected for the meet were:

Alex Brownridge, timer; Dr. R. S. Horton, timer; Dr. M. A. Patton, M. B. Wellington, A. B. McCord, Leon Whitsett and Willard Smith, judges; Elmer Kelly, starter, and Waldo O'Kelly, score-keeper.

LABOR VICTORY SEEN AS U. S. FILES SUIT

(By United Press Leased Wire) SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—The injunction for years a "bogey" of organized labor—today was raised as a club by the federal government against labor's enemies.

The government filed suit in federal court against the San Francisco Industrial association and forty-nine other firms, organizations and individuals asking that they be enjoined from further alleged conspiracy against the organized labor.

Labor leaders view today's suit as a symbol of victory for their cause.

The chief abuses charged were that defendants refused to do business with persons not employing at least 50 per cent non-union labor; that they agreed to employ at least that percentage of non-union labor themselves; that they insisted on all firms with which they did business subscribing to the "American plan" of industrial relations and that they maintained a blacklist against workers in the building trades.

The suit is an outgrowth of long standing warfare between the building trades in San Francisco and the employers. Recently this warfare led to investigation by the federal trade commission and the department of justice.

The complaint, which sets forth that the United States of America is plaintiff and names fifty-one defendants, asks in addition to the injunction:

That the Industrial Association and Builders Exchange be dissolved as conspiracies in restraint of trade.

The complaint alleges:

That the defendants entered into a conspiracy to force out of business any contractors who refused to subscribe to the "American plan" and who would not agree to employ not less than 50 per cent non-union men.

Modern 'Fagin' Sought In Drug Store Burglary

Officers believe an older man employed the boys to steal for him.

China Apologizes To U. S. for Killing American

(United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, May 26.—The Chinese government has met in full the demands of the United States for apology and indemnity for the killing of Charles Colman, an American citizen, the state department announced today.

General Chang, military governor in person to American Minister Schurman, the Peking government has agreed to pay the United States $25,000 and to dismiss the chief of staff of the Chinese army.

Colman was shot by Chinese soldiers.

BOULDER DAM ASSOCIATION BOARD MEETS

Executive Committee Discusses Plans for Widening Scope of Organization, Get Members.

Plans for enlarging the membership of the Boulder Dam association, and widening its scope, were discussed at a meeting of the executive committee of the association, held at St. Ann's Inn this noon.

A concerted effort to secure additional members from as large a territory as possible were considered by the committee.

Among those present were President John L. Bacon, San Diego; Secretary W. M. Irwin, Fullerton; J. Carr, Pasadena; Mayor F. C. Evans, Riverside; Mayor W. F. Coulter, Fullerton; City Trustee Oscar Gunther, Orange; and Earl Pound, Brawley.

Congressman Phil Swing was expected to arrive in time for the conference, it was stated.

Walter Warmholz, Long Beach, nominated by Dr. Frank Roach, Long Beach, and Yundt were the only candidates. Dale Park, of Los Angeles, withdrew—Lion Hunt, Los Angeles, announced that the den of that city regarded Lionism above ambition of the club to have one of its members serve in the high office, and had withdrawn Park's name in the interest of harmony. Yundt was nominated by M. Estudillo, Riverside.

Sacramento was chosen without opposition, and it was announced that San Bernardino and San Diego would be contenders for the honor of entertaining the 1925 convention.

BRYAN AIDS IN RY. VALUATION SLASH DRIVE

BY H. E. CAYLOR (United Press Staff Correspondent) CHICAGO, May 26.—Roads of America were warned to "remember their creator" by William Jennings Bryan, in addressing the National Conference on Lower Railroad Valuation here today.

Bryan said:

"Every railroad corporation should have this quotation at the top of its letterheads: 'Remember now thy creator in the days of your youth and in your life.'"

Bryan declared the country had made the railroads but that the corporation did not make the country.

"Every person is put on earth to carry out the Lord's scheme and purpose, but many times man forgets he is only a creature and thinks he is master," the Commoner said in continuing his analogy of the country and the railroads.

For Lower Valuation.

"The movement to obtain a lower valuation of railroads is wise and timely," Bryan said.

"While I prefer private ownership of the companies, I fear the country will be forced to government ownership because a private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable. But while we have private ownership we want it regulated insofar as possible."

Organized groups throughout the nation will be merged to fight higher railroad valuation and a subsequent rate increases. Representative Huddleston, Alabama, chairman of the organization committee of the valuation conference, announced.

The units, some of which have delegates at the conference and have endorsed Senator LaFollette's "congressional bloc" program, include labor unions and railway brotherhoods, shippers, commercial clubs, state governments, women's clubs and civic farmers' organizations and cotton growers.

Women Back Conference.

Each of the delegates, including governors, congressmen, union and brotherhood leaders, farmers and women's federation leaders, will invite such organizations in their districts and under their supervision to join in the movement, the organization's committee plans.

The power of the country's women was declared to be lined up behind the conference as a result of participation today of Mrs. Raymond Robbins and Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham of the National League of Women Voters.

Following public and executive meetings at which technical experts submitted reports declaring that the railroads are to demand a $10,000,000,000 increase in valuation, adding $1,500,000 to cost of commodities through increased rates, the convention is to adjourn late today.

THRONIS TOLD OF MENACE

Rex B. Goodcell Declares Narcotic Evil One of Greatest Perils

U. S. FLAG DAY PLAN FAVORED BY LIONS

September 14, Birthday of Francis Scott Key, to Be Observed

Election of E. R. Yundt, cashier of the State bank of Pomona, as governor of the Fourth district of Lions clubs, Lions International, selection of Sacramento as the 1924 convention city, adoption of resolutions pledging the support of Lions to federal officers in the fight to suppress the narcotic evil, establishing the last meeting in January of each year as uniform date for the election of officers by all clubs, and designating September 14 as Lions Star Spangled Banner day, were features of the closing business session of the Lions convention program closing here at noon today.

Walter Warmholz, Long Beach, nominated by Dr. Frank Roach, Long Beach, and Yundt were the only candidates. Dale Park, of Los Angeles, withdrew—Lion Hunt, Los Angeles, announced that the den of that city regarded Lionism above ambition of the club to have one of its members serve in the high office, and had withdrawn Park's name in the interest of harmony. Yundt was nominated by M. Estudillo, Riverside.

Sacramento was chosen without opposition, and it was announced that San Bernardino and San Diego would be contenders for the honor of entertaining the 1925 convention.

The convention voted to organize an excursion to the Hawaiian islands. The date was set for February 20, 1924.

A fund was raised, and Park was appointed a committee to select and present cups to the Santa Ana Rotary and Kiwanis clubs as an appreciation of the fine co-operative spirit shown by these clubs in co-operating with the Santa Ana Lions in entertaining the convention.

Rex B. Goodcell, Los Angeles, collector of national revenue, presented the narcotic resolution to the resolutions committee, and it was adopted following its official presentation to the convention. In speaking on the resolution, Goodcell declared that the drug evil was one of the greatest menaces confronting the people of this nation.

Plan Flag Day

Lion Bronson, Marysville, speaking on the Star Spangled Banner day resolution, recounted how the movement had been started by Marysville den. The purpose is for all the clubs to recognize the day and provide speakers at schools, at public meetings and for club meetings at which patriotic addresses will be featured. The day was also designated in commemoration of the date upon which the song was written by Francis Scott Key.

Other resolutions adopted included: Provisions that a Lion visiting a sister club advise the secretary of that club of his attendance, with the secretary of the host club charged with responsibility of forwarding the attendance record to the home club of the visitor.

Providing that each club be assessed 25 cents per capita annually to assist in defraying expenses of clubs entertaining the annual convention.

Expressing appreciation of the convention to the Santa Ana den, sister dens co-operating, the Rotary club, Kiwanis club and the residents of Santa Ana for their hearty co-operation in making possible the fine entertainment and hospitality extended the delegates.

As the result of adoption of a motion offered from the floor by Lion Cassidy, Pomona, the district convention at future meetings will have a big flag to carry at the head of parades. Cassidy commented on the absence of the colors at the yesterday from the parade of Lions late yesterday from the Temple theater to St. Ann's Inn. Pomona den will provide the flag.

Jesse Robinson, San Francisco, announced by District Governor Ray Riley as the dean of Lions in this district, entered the convention room during the morning session, and was given a big ovation.

LIONS IN WAR ON DOPE EVIL

Delegates from the northern part of the state to the convention of Lions here, upon their arrival by boat at the dock at Wilmington Thursday afternoon, and a fleet of twenty-one new Studebakers provided by the Bowles Motor company, Santa Ana, with other agents co-operating, for transporting the delegates to this city. Fred Ross, salesmanager for the Bowles Motor company, headed the caravan.

He made brief remarks.

Announcement was made that at a meeting of the Presidents and Secretaries' association of Group one, composed of clubs north of Tulare county, Fred Johns, Sacramento, and Frank Woodward, Oakland, were elected chairman and secretary, respectively.

On recommendation of the constitution and by-laws committee, amendment was made to article four to create the office of historian of the district.

Following adjournment of the convention, delegates and visitors went to Orange county park, where a barbecue prepared by W. K. Duffy, Santa Ana Elks' club chef, was the feature. Ham and other delectables appropriate to such an occasion were served.

A sight-seeing trip and a visit to the California Valencia Orange show at Anaheim were programed for the afternoon.

Plan Dinner Dance.
A dinner and dance at the Virginia hotel, Long Beach, was scheduled to begin at 6:30 o'clock, and is to be the closing feature of the convention. A "pike party" and dancing on the pike is programmed for 9 p. m.

Never has the city witnessed so uniquely delightful an event as last night's dinner when the beautiful grounds at St. Ann's Inn were converted into a fairland of lights, decorations and music and where King Carnival reigned supreme.

Early in the afternoon, canvas was stretched entirely around the great lawns with their semi-tropical trees and flowers. Tables, bays in their array of attractive favors placed there by different enterprising dens, were arranged to seat 1000 persons at the banquet of roast turkey and its accompanying delicacies, served by a staff of busy waiters.

Japanese lanterns covered the lights strung through figs and palm trees while concealed spotlights gave brilliancy to the scene, although the Lady Moon still dominated the whole.

Picture Brilliant.
Serpentine confetti distributed in great profusion, soon draped every individual present, and swaying from the trees and covering the grass, added its brilliancy to the picture. With each Lion and Lioness adding to personal charms, the grotesque noses and ears that were given out, topping all with the really lovely caps, the crowd gathered to dine was an amazing one in point of appearance.

Interest centered in the different stunts that were presented, some of the best ones being entirely impromptu as when a band of Sacramento folk went through the crowd singing "My Name is Yon Yonson." Berkeley today was rejoicing over the great good fortune that succeeded in carrying off the two big trophies, the silver cup given for the best stunt exemplifying Lionism, and the beautiful bronze cup given this year by the Santa Ana Rotarians and last night presented by their president, Earl S. Morrow. The award was based on number present and distance travelled.

To Hold Cup for Year.
The cup is to be held by the winning den, until next year's convention when it will again be offered to the city sending the greatest number of delegates in comparison with its size and distance from the convention city.

In announcing the gift, President Harry Hanson of the Santa Ana Lions called Morrow to the stage and presented him to the crowd. Morrow then made the presentation to the president of the Berkeley Lions. The cup is a silver lined bronze one now inscribed with the name of the donors and to have each winning city's name engraved from year to year. Preceding the open air stunts presented by Long Beach, Pomona, Ontario and Fresno was the concert by the San Diego boys' band, stringed orchestra numbers and an exhibition of clever dancing by a talented pair of professional dancers.

Balancing Stunt.
Long Beach with a splendidly trained group of athletic members presented some pleasing ladder and balancing work which seemed to exemplify the co-operation necessary between Lions. Pomona gave a number of fine choruses, including many popular Lions songs and Ontario with a group of half a dozen apparent tourists from the east, gave a clever "selling talk" followed by one on patriotism by the Rev. Paul Wright as a typical "rube."

Fresno's offering opened with a song by the "Raisin Maid" in her well-known red sun-bonnet and closed with a fireworks display on the stand erected for that purpose. The fireworks were arranged as a set piece telling of Fresno's Sun Maid raisins.

Adjournment to the Yost theater was followed by other stunts, put on by Berkeley, Oakland, Riverside, Sacramento, San Bernardino and San Diego.

Statements by Riley at the late afternoon session yesterday that the number of clubs and membership had increased approximately 100 per cent since the convention at Fresno a year ago, were greeted with a burst of enthusiastic applause that lasted for several seconds.

Big Growth Cited.
He said that at the time of the last convention there were twenty-eight clubs in the district. Today there are fifty-three, with an active membership approximating 3000. Associate and honorary members will increase the number by 600, he said. Two years ago the number of clubs in the district was eleven.

Fred Schleicher, organizer in this district under the direction of the International, was given credit by Riley and others for the tremendous increase in clubs and memberships.

"We have a larger membership here than in any of the other jurisdictions," said the district governor. "Credit for the increase is due largely to Schleicher, Jess Robinson and the co-operation of clubs, rather than to anything I have done during my service as district governor."

Organization of Service.
Lionism is getting more publicity and is recognized as one of the peopliest of the service club organizations. We are growing in numbers very rapidly. We are looked upon as an organization of service. Our clubs are regarded as leaders in their communities. As our membership and influence increase we must be careful in our actions with respect to public activities. We should be slow in endorsement of propositions, and above all, be sure we are right before we enter upon any activity, whether of city, county, state or national interest."

Rep. B. Goodell, of Los Angeles, collector of internal revenue, in his usual forceful manner, discussed patriotism from the standpoint of taking an interest in elections and casting ballots in choosing men who shall govern the city, county, state or nation.

Deplores Suspicion.
He deplored the suspicion that always follows a man who is elected to political office. He pointed out that the bank clerk working on a salary of $150 a month has the explicit confidence of a community, as evidenced by the fact that an individual will take his money to the bank deposit it, and accept from the clerk merely the notation of the amount in his bank book.

"A man may have a reputation in his community for honesty, integrity, good purposes, without ever a reflection cast on his reputation," said Goodell. "But let that same man be elected to office and he at once is regarded with suspicion and as a grafter."

A resolution offered by Goodell pledged the support of Lions of the Fourth district to federal officers in their effort to stamp out the narcotic evil.

Lion Bronson, Marysville, delivered a stirring patriotic address, with the flag as his subject.

Loss Faith in Courts.
"The people have lost confidence in our courts, which have taken over powers it was never intended they should have. The railroad problem is a large part of the problem of the farmer and the manufacturer. The American Railroad system must be centralized, possibly under government control of some character. Rail rates must be reduced and better service rendered."

"The day of Wall street control of the judiciary is over. But as far as that is concerned, the day of Wall street control in any efficiently conducted American business is over. The Ford company never needed Wall street. The Standard Oil company doesn't need Wall street. The Middle West soon will be the financial and business center of this country."

Seek to Link Suspect With Telegraph Fraud
Frank W. Webb, suspected member of a statewide wire-tapping gang, was in the county jail at Los Angeles, today, while officers there were attempting to connect him with a series of frauds said to have been perpetrated in connection with telegraphic money orders.

He was arrested here Thursday night by City Marshal L. C. Rogers, after it was declared, he had attempted to collect a wire for $150, addressed to Fred B. Webb, Glendale. He was said to have sent a telegram from the Western Union office here, addressed to the Glendale office, requesting that the money be forwarded here.

According to the officers, Webb himself was in the Glendale office at the time, and the fraud was discovered.

Webb and Deputy Sheriff Fox of Los Angeles came to the jail here, but were unable to identify the suspect. Two other men were in custody in Long Beach, charged with a similar offense, and it was claimed by the officers that they were all members of a gang which has been operating since last October.

California Bankers' Meeting Sets Record

LONG BEACH, Calif., May 26.—The convention of the California Bankers' association, which closed at noon here today, was the largest ever held in the history of the organization.

When the registration books were finally closed today, more than 900 bankers from all over the state had signed. Last year at Del Monte, the registration was 600, the record attendance to date. Total membership is a little more than 1000.

The financial conclave ended with the election of officers. There were no contests. H. C. Carr, vice president of the First National bank of Porterville, was elected president and Leo Chandler, vice president of the California bank, Los Angeles, was named vice president.

U. S. DRY LAW FAILS SAYS FRENCH PROF.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 25.—Prof. Henri Hauser of the University of Paris, who is lecturing as an exchange professor at Harvard, has written a letter to one of his home town newspapers, L'Information, on the subject of American prohibition.

A copy of the paper with the professor's article in it has just reached Cambridge, causing loud gasps of astonishment, because Prof. Hauser asserts therein that the famous Harvard yard and all its historic elms give forth an unmistakable aroma of whisky.

"Prohibition," says the professor, "at least so far as the highest classes are concerned, has been a big failure in the United States."

He goes on to say that the young women of Boston and Cambridge—"sweet beauties," he calls them—don't seem to get drunk, he says, but just a bit "disorganized." He gives it as his impression that nearly everybody in the United States, let alone at Harvard, likes to drink more than he ever did "because alcohol has the attraction of a forbidden fruit."

The case was set over in the superior court here until June 11. The case is being settled out of court, it is said.

OREGON GOAT HAS

VALUABLE MOHAIR

DALLAS, Ore., May 22.—A three-year-old Angora buck, owned by U. S. Grant, former mayor of Dallas, has just had a hair cut which netted his owner $222.70, and will provide head coverings for thousands of men and women, who regret that they will never need a hair cut.

The buck, which has just been clipped, produced 20.14 pounds of mohair, in 26-inch braids. Mohair of that length is quoted today at $11 a pound. Grant says that when the hair is unbraided it will run from two to three inches longer.

The finest grade of mohair, such as the fleece Grant has just clipped, is used almost exclusively in the manufacture of wigs and toupes for men, and switches and transformations for women.

NEWS BRIEFS

Former residents of Colorado will hold their picnic reunion tomorrow at Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles.

A meeting of the board of control of the Seven Southern Counties Poultry association, composed of poultry department members of the seven southern counties farm bureaus, will be held at the Orange county farm bureau office here, June 1. Poultrymen elected to the board of control at a meeting held here yesterday included J. O. Snyder, Colton; E. E. Ebenberg, Riverside; C. R. Grant, San Diego; A.
E. Block, Costa Mesa; and E. C.
Hogsett, Pomona. M. A. Schofield, Gardena, G. C. Keeney, San Diego, and D. J. Houser, Fontana, were elected directors at large.

Water conservation as proposed for the three counties, Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino, today stood approved by the board of directors of the Orange county farm bureau. A resolution adopted by the board endorsed the water conservation project and suggested an appropriation of $15,000 to finance its accomplishment.

A few moments later, however,
on urgent advice and with the consent of the court, she retracted her plea, and pleaded not guilty. The court set her bail at $50, which she refused to pay, although she had that sum with her, and she returned to the jail.

Shortly after midnight, however,
she was released on her own recognizance, and in company with her husband, she left for their sylvan ranch.

Her trial was set for July 18.

Mrs. Cookson was a disappointment to those who had imagined
her a broadshouldered, square jawed Amazon—and it was a pleasant disappointment.

She's a little woman, gave her age as 35 and her weight as 130 pounds, and she's very pretty, in a winsome, girlish way.

She doesn't even look forceful,
until one notices the determined set of her dainty lips, or the flash
of her grey-blue eyes.

She was attired in the riding breeches and flannel shirt which she was said to have worn during her long vigil on the pipe line in the canyon. Instead, she wore black taffeta dress, tiny slippers
with French heels, a poke bonnet,
with a transparent crown, and colorful flowers, and a light cape
of newest mode.

And she didn't wear them like a farmer-come-to-town, but rather like the society woman that she was before she went into the seclusion of the canyon to find her living.

She talks like a flapper, unless the biting sarcasms and shining witticisms may belie that. In her strikingly original way, she told the story of the struggle in the forest—the "feud of Harding canyon," as she called it.

"Five years ago, when I was suffering from tuberculosis, and I was supposed to die, I bought 73 acres of land from the Modjeska company," she began.

"In my contract, was a provision, whereby I might lay a 2-inch pipe, across an intervening land, from the reservoir to my land."

"I never had the funds to do this until recently. I was too busy developing my ranch and planting trees."

"I regained my health, but I love that country up there, and will remain there for some time."

"About two years ago, Mr. Mann called me to Los Angeles, and invited me to lay the pipe, I worked side by side with my two men in laying that pipe, over ledges and cliffs and through arroyos."

Operates Own Tractor

The men who are devoted to the little woman who has fought the battle against disease and won, as that she asks them to do no labor which she will not do herself.
If a tractor is to be operated, she will operate, or she will drive fence posts, or plow.

"While my men and I were working, Mann served several notices on us to withdraw, but we refused, and completed the line."

"Then I was afraid that he would tear it out, so armed with a shotgun, I camped on the pipe. I had been there for 32 hours, when the officers and Mr. Mann and his attorney appeared."

"At that time I was astride the pipe—my own property, according to the contract—and I refused to move. Then he tore down a portion of the line, which I restored before I was arrested."

Mrs. Cookson calls the affair a "feud" and a "persecution," and dubbed Mann a modern "Skylock."

"But don't forget that there was a Portia," she said, as she quoted Shakespeare aptly.

Answers Questions Sharply

In court, Mrs. Cookson sat silently, except to answer questions of Attorney Mansur, in a bitingly quick manner.

"I never saw that pipe line of yours," Mann told her before the justice.

"You ought to have seen it," she responded, "the last time I saw you, you were climbing on it and swinging like a monkey."

The woman wanted to go to jail, she said, and when after Cox had announced her sentence, Attorney Mansur suggested that a suspend sentence would be sufficient, she refused suspension, and accepted the confinement instead.

So today, again in the seclusion of her wooded ranch, the little woman was still fighting for a principle.

"I'm from Texas and I'm proud of it," she told Justice Joseph B.
Twine, when he was booking her.
"But there one isn't afraid to go to jail for a principle."

And she promised, in parting, that she would fight to the last ditch for this same principle.

BRAWNY SMITHY

TO ANSWER IN

$10,000 SUIT

The bone and brawn of the smithy's strong right arm may cost him $10,125.

This became evident as J. C.
Smart today filed suit for that amount in superior court against George Spangler, blacksmith, alleging that Spangler hit him, and caused him to lose his power of speech and ability to eat.

The altercation was said to have occurred in the shop of the defendant on North Sycamore street, where, beneath the shade of cop-ious pepper trees, Spangler has conducted a blacksmith shop for many years.

The plaintiff was employed by Spangler as a blacksmith, the complaint stated.

Actual injuries cost Smart $5, 600, he stated. His physicians' bills were $25, and through his inability to work while convalescing, he lost $100, he claimed. In addition, he sought $5,000 exemplary damages.

Following the altercation, Spangler was arrested on a warrant secured by Smart, and was fined $25
by City Recorder W. F. Heathman.

Attorney A. E. Koepsel represented the complainant.

Is Kin of Col. House

Mrs. Cookson claim to be third cousin to Colonel E. M. House, confidential advisor to ex-President Woodrow Wilson.

"I don't suppose, however, that he'd be interested to know that I am in jail," she said yesterday.

Mrs. Cookson was free today on her own recognizance, following a change of plea on the charges of tearing up pipe between by Mann of the Modjeska company.

She was arrested about 2:30 p.m. yesterday, on a warrant secured by Mann, on the advice of counsel, Attorney Fred Mansur, Los Angeles.

The complaint charged that Mrs.
Cookson tore up and destroyed a pipe line owned by the company.
Against the advice of Justice J. B.
Cox, who told her that the matter was one for civil jurisdiction, she entered a plea of guilty.

The court gave her choice of $25 fine or 25 days in jail.

"I'll go to jail," she announced quietly but firmly, and she seized her suitcase, and went to the county boarding house, where she was properly booked, and assigned a bedroom for 32 hours, when the Miss Merle Calvin, asserted bootleg queen.

Retracts Plea

A few moments later, however,
on urgent advice and with the consent of the court, she retracted her plea, and pleaded not guilty. The court set her bail at $50, which she refused to pay, although she had
that sum with her, and she returned to the jail.

Shortly after midnight, however,
she was released on her own recognizance, and in company with her husband, she left for their sylvan ranch.

Her trial was set for July 18.

Mrs. Cookson was a disappointment to those who had imagined
her a broadshouldered, square jawed
Amazon—and it was a pleasant
disappointment.

She's a little woman, gave her
age as 35 and her weight as 130
pounds, and she's very pretty, in a winsome, girlish way.

She doesn't even look forceful,
until one notices the determined
set of her dainty lips, or the flash
of her grey-blue eyes.

She was attired in the riding
breeches and flannel shirt which
her long vigil on the pipe line in the canyon. Instead, she wore
black taffeta dress, tiny slippers
with French heels, a poke bonnet,
with a transparent crown, and
colorful flowers, and a light cape
of newest mode.

RUSH DETAILS IN MEMORIAL OBSERVANCE

While loving friends and relatives today busied themselves with the self-imposed duty of cleaning the graves in Santa Ana and Orange county cemeteries, scores of active workers in fraternal organizations made last-minute preparations for the observance of Memorial day and arranged for the decoration of hundreds of graves in community burial plots.

Tomorrow ministers throughout the city will touch upon the observance of Memorial day, while veterans of the Civil War, the Spanish-American War, and the World War, as well as National Guardsmen and other former service men will attend special services at the First Presbyterian church and the First Methodist church.

"Our Memorial day," said the Rev. W. E. Roberts, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, "springs primarily out of the historic event we call the Civil War. In the light of subsequent history, we are constrained to say that was one of the world's most important events."

Cemeteries Friendship. "We would never have been ready for the opening years of the twentieth century had not the Civil War cemented us into a permanent nation."

In response to a similar invitation extended by the Rev. W. A. Betts, members of the G. A. R. will attend memorial services at the First Methodist church. Veterans of the Civil War, and all others who desire to attend the services at the Methodist church, were requested to meet at G. A. R. hall.

Christian Science Quarterly. Subject, "Soul and Body." Sunday school at 9:30. Wednesday evening testimonial meeting at 8:00 p. m. Free reading room open daily, except Sunday, from 9:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. at W. H. Spurgeon building.

The Theosophical Society, Santa Ana Lodge will hold its next meeting Wednesday evening June 6th at 8 o'clock at 117 1/2 East Fourth street. Mr. Arthur P. Moran of Los Angeles will address the meeting and his subject will be "Non-Resistance." There will be no lecture on May 30th on account of Memorial Day.

tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. American Legion members, National Guardsmen, Spanish-American veterans and those desiring to attend the services at the Presbyterian church were requested to meet at Legion Hall at 10:30 a. m.

Children Bring Flowers. School children, as usual, will be asked to contribute flowers with which to decorate 400 graves of soldiers in the Santa Ana cemetery.

"If the children will take the flowers to their respective schools next Monday," said G. J. Mosbaugh, chairman of the Decoration day committee of Sedgwick Post No. 17, G. A. R., "we will be glad to call for them. Women of the Relief corps will arrange the flowers into bouquets at G. A. R. hall. Graves of the women of the Relief corps will be decorated Tuesday, with the formal ritualistic service and decoration of the G. A. R. graves set for 10 a. m. Wednesday."

Those wishing to assist in transporting veterans and others to the cemeteries were asked to report to G. A. R. headquarters here. "Automobiles will be needed," said Mosbaugh, "and we will ap-

William Jennings Bryan's Weekly Bible Talk

(By William Jennings Bryan)

We pause today in our survey of the lives of the great men and women of the Old Testament to present an incident in the life of Jeremiah, the prophet, which is intended to emphasize the evils of alcohol.

It is especially appropriate at this time when the opponents of prohibition are attempting to defend the use of what they call light wine and beer, although they do not specify the percentage of alcohol which would, in their judgment, be necessary to rob the beverages of their lightness.

Alcohol is the objectionable element in intoxicating beverages and the whole controversy therefore revolves about the percentage. Whiskey contains a larger percentage of alcohol than either wine or beer, therefore, it is more intoxicating.

The prohibition law does not forbid the use of alcohol; it merely prescribes the amount of water which must be used to dilute the alcohol. It has been decided that a beverage containing less than one-half of one per cent. is harmless.

The Drink That Masters. If one drinks a beverage containing enough alcohol to intoxicate, he not only feels the immediate effect of it, but cultivates a craving for it which, in time, may so master him that he becomes a drunkard. If, however, the alcoholic content is not more than one-half of one per cent. of the total, the water taken with the alcohol neutralizes the effect and he acquires the water habit instead of the alcohol habit.

If experience hereafter proves that a pint of alcohol, taken in connection with a hundred and ninety-nine pints of water, is injurious, the percentage of alcohol can be still further decreased—and will be.

It is interesting to know that the present percentage permitted, namely, one-half of one per cent., was fixed by the government at the request of the liquor sellers.

When the retailers of intoxicating beverages were required to pay a license they soon sought protection from unlicensed competitors and asked that a line be drawn between the "soft drinks" and the liquor sold at the saloon. One-half of one per cent was finally agreed upon for the protection of the saloonkeepers, their unlicensed competitors being forbidden to sell drinks containing more than one pint of alcohol in two hundred pints of the liquor, or one-half of one per cent.

Now that prohibition has come, it is the liquor dealers who are fretting, quite inconsistently, that a higher amount of alcohol than one-half of one per cent. is harmless.

Man's Ancient Enemy

Wine, now urged as a harmless drink by those opposed to prohibition, is an ancient enemy of man. One of the earliest illustrations of the intoxicating effect of wine is found in the fifth chapter of Genesis where we are told:

"And Noah began to be an husbandman, and he planted a vineyard; and he drank of the wine, and he was drunken."

he says:

"Look not upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth his colour in the cup, when it moveth itself aright. At the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder."

And again: "Who hath we? who hath sorrow? who hath contentions? who hath babbling? who hath wounds without cause? who hath redness of eyes? They that tarry long at the wine; they that go to seek mixed wine."

The testimony of writers outside of the Bible is the same.

The blind poet, Homer, quotes Achilles as charging Agamemnon with being a wine bibber.

Alexander the Great, in a drunken quarrel at the table, killed a favorite general who had once saved his life.

Many, the modern Spanish novelist, brings an indictment against the use of wine in his country, charging that it robs the nation of the service of young men who might be of great value to it but for the demoralizing influence of wine.

A Family of Total Abstinents. Jeremiah brings before us a family of total abstinents. They were called Rechabites after Rechab, the father of Jonadab.

The prophet took the Rechabites into the house of the Lord where their example would impress the Israelites. He offered them wine to test them in the presence of the people, knowing in advance that, keeping their vow, they would refuse. They said:

"We will drink no wines for Jonadab the son of Rechab our father commanded us, saying, Ye shall drink no wine, neither ye, nor your sons for ever. . . . Thus have we obeyed the voice of Jonadab the son of Rechab our father in all that he hath charged us, to drink no wine all our days, we, our wives, our sons, nor our daughters."

Then Jeremiah used the obedience of the Rechabites to Jonadab as a rebuke to those who had refused to obey the commandments of the Almighty. As a reward for the obedience to their father, Jonadab, Jeremiah was commanded to say unto the Rechabites in the name of the God of Israel:

"Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel; Jonadab the son of Rechab shall not want a man to stand before me for ever."

The Ancient Temperance Pledge. The temperance pledge is not a modern innovation. The Nazarene vow, recorded in the sixth chapter of Numbers, required that those who took the vow should separate themselves unto the Lord and also separate themselves from "wine and strong drink." They were not permitted to drink "vinegar of wine, or vinegar of strong drink, neither any liquor of grapes."

There are those now who object to taking a total abstinence pledge—even some who are total abstainers. They say that it is an offense against their dignity to take or make a pledge in this particular matter.

They do not object to pledges of other kinds—the marriage pledge, the church covenant, the oath of the witness, the oath of the fraternity and the promissory note—but somehow they shy at a pledge not to use intoxicating liquor as a beverage.

The pledge is of special importance just now; first, because of its restraining influence upon the one who pledges total abstinence, and second, because of its large influence as an example. Three illustrations from my own experience reinforce the thought that I am presenting.

A Father's Example. In 1914 I delivered a temperance address at Philadelphia. At the close of the meeting some six thousand signed the pledge with me.

A few days afterwards a Philadelphia lawyer called at my house to tell me of the effect of the pledge which he signed that night.

When he received a blank pledge at the opening of the meeting he handed it to another, being himself prejudiced against pledge signing. During the progress of the address his prejudice was overcome by argument and he recalled the pledge and signed it.

On his way from the meeting to his suburban home he decided to put the pledge into operation at once; when he reached his house he took a bottle of cocktails out of the closet and emptied it.

His son, a college student, seeing his father with the bottle in his hand, inquired whether he was sick. On learning from the father that he had signed the pledge and would not keep alcoholic beverages in the house any more, the son put out his hand to his father and said, "Let me in on this with you."

The father felt amply rewarded for any sacrifice that the pledge had cost him.

"Drink Has Ruined Them All!" The second case is on the other side.

As I approached a southern city a few years ago, I inquired of the friend who had come to an adjacent town after me about persons whom I knew—among them one man of great prominence.

"He died recently," said my companion and then he told me of an incident—I quote his language as I recall it.

"Just before he died he (the citizen of whom I had inquired) spoke at a meeting in his home town in favor of prohibition, saying, 'You know, fellow citizens, that I have always spoken against prohibition and voted against it; I am for prohibition now. I haven't a son who is worth anything; drink has ruined them all, and in my old age I am left alone.'"

What greater punishment could be visited upon a man who had thrown his influence on the side of the saloon?

HAVE YOU A PIECE TO PUT IN IT?

THE LION AND THE LAMB
She was strolling along
In the midst of the throng
When a handsome youth wandered
That way.
Now the maiden was fair—
Curly eyes and blue hair—
So he said in a manner quite gay:
"I met you last night
When the moon shone so bright
In the clear evening sky over head.
I have thought all the while
Of your eyes and your smile—
"You must be a Lion," she said!

Now the youth was sincere,
And he cried, "Oh my dear—
You remember—'twas down at the Inn.

You were all I could see
So you must have seen me
And known what a state I was in!"
Then the smitten chap swore
He had ne'er loved before
But was heart whole and quite Fancy free.

With a mischievous smile,
"I knew all the while
That you were a 'lynx,'" quoth she.

You know it frequently happens
That way.
Just when it seems that men are Non-essentials, something happens
And the creatures seem most essential indeed!

She was a Lioness fair and she Was feeling serenely self-reliant in
The handsome big enclosed car Which the indulgent father of the Family had placed at her disposal
To carry a group of visiting Lionesses to the Anaheim luncheon.

Everything went so smoothly.
The drive was pleasant, the luncheon appetizing, the program soul satisfying. So the homeward trip was undertaken in a spirit of "God's in His heaven—all's well with the world."

Her expert handling of the big car, called forth favorable comment which opened the subject of women's driving.

"It angers me so that men consider us incapable of handling a car," declared one member of the party. "If they only realized it, women really can drive better than men can."

"My dear," said another, "did you ever realize how many things there are which women do better than men if men would but admit it? I can handle our car very bit as well as my husband."

"Even to changing a tire?" asked another.

"Well I have never had that to do on a big car, but am sure I could."

"Certainly you could," assured a third member of the half dozen.
"My sister is a wonderful driver—far more expert than her husband, and she says changing a tire isn't so difficult."

"Men just like to think we're helpless without them," agreed the driver. "If the poor dears only realized how little we really need them—why, what was that? What alls the foot throttle. It has come entirely out! Listen to the engine rattle!"

And she drew out to the side of the road and stopped.

Then that efficient and entirely self-reliant little group of half a dozen women got out and the driver lifted the hood of the machine.

Of course they immediately pushed up that little hickey and fastened the throttle to place and screw.

Honeymooners Are Expected to Reach Home Today After Their Northern Trip

After a delicious motor trip in Northern California, Mr. and Mrs.
Frank C. Arnim were planning to reach home today or Monday, according to letters received by interested friends and relatives here.

The wedding of Mr. Arnim and Miss Gladys
Burns was one of the leading social events of the spring season and occurred at the home of the bride's parents,
Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Burns, on Spurgen street, Wednesday afternoon, May 16.

The Burns home has been the center of many smaller social affairs since the wedding, one being the entertainment of Mr.
and Mrs. Northrup of Santa Barbara who were week-end guests and honored by several pleasant little courtesies.

Mrs. Burns was a birthday celebrant also, since the marriage of the daughter of the home, and was honored by a smart little dinner at Long Beach presented by Mrs. Nellie B. Cushman. Mrs.
Burns and her mother, Mrs. Emma French were solo Santa Ana guests at the affair.

With the return of Mr. and Mrs. Arnim, who will remain at the Spurgeon street home during the summer while Mr. and Mrs.
Burns enjoy an eastern trip, it was assumed that the big house will resound with gaiety as Mrs. Arnim takes her place among the smart young matrons of the city.

Legion Auxiliary

Members of the Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion are requested by their president, Mrs.
Gertrude Whitney, to meet at Legion hall tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock when they will join the Legionnaires in their march to the First Presbyterian church Memorial services.

ed it tight, did they not?

They looked under the hood.
They inspected the hole in the floor where the throttle wasn't, and then they flagged a passing car with a Lion card and told the high school boy driver they were in trouble some way.

And he listened courteously and silently, being a mere man, then examined the car, located the trouble in one minute, righted it in two, drove on in three.

As we were saying:
It frequently happens that way.

MOTHER GOOSE FOR LIONS
Sing a song of Lions, pockets full of tin,
Come from every little town to stay here at the Inn.
When convention's over home again they'll go.
Aren't they a jolly bunch to greet each other so?

To Santa Ana, to Santa Ana to win a fine cup.
Home again, home again, all the jigs up.

There was a big Lion who lived in a den.
He hadn't had meat for the Lord knows when.
They showed him a cup that was handsome and neat.
He gleefully grabbed it and said:
"There's my meat."

Lioness, Lioness, where have you been?
I've been to Santa Ana where I was queen.
Lioness, Lioness, what did you do there?
I dined, danced and motored and went everywhere.

There was a Lion in one den
And he was wondrous wise.
He came to the convention
And thought he'd win a prize.
And when the cups were given out,

With all his might and main
He cried, "Just wait till '24
I'm going to try again."

DEAR PATCHWORK LADY:
My Big Brother was wearing a red poppy to high school today and I asked him the reason and he said it was in honor of Poppy day. We were carnations for Mother's day, just a few days ago, and now it's Poppy day.

When do I have mine?

Shower of Gifts Falls to Share of Bride-Elect of June

The betrothal and approaching wedding of Miss Olive Morris and Mr. Wilbur Phipps was recognized in a delightful manner yesterday by Mrs. J. W. Allen and Mrs. E. H. Layton, aunts of the bride-elect who entertained at the home of Mrs. Layton, 1016 West Fifth street, with a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Morris.

Amusing games and contests were programmed in the afternoon. Mrs. "Tillie" Moesser proving most proficient in the various guessing games and being rewarded with the prize. Recipes were also written for the future use of Miss Morris and later, the guests were served with delicious cake and punch, embodying a yellow and white color scheme.

This was also in evidence in the floral decorations of yellow and white daisies which filled the rooms.

At a certain signal, a large clothes basket filled with gifts in crystal, linen and silver with other articles both useful and beautiful, was placed before the honorees who gave their friends the pleasure of seeing the gifts unwrapped.

The wedding of the popular young people will be an event of Saturday, June 2 and will be held at the home of Mrs. Viola Phipps, mother of the groom.

Those at yesterday's happy party included Mrs. John Morris, grandmother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Viola Phipps, Mrs. Kenneth
Brown, Mrs. J. R. Meyer, Mrs.
Louis Willis, Mrs. Matilda Moesser, Mrs. J. W. Morris, Mrs. J.
W. Allen, Mrs. E. H. Layton, the Misses Florence Gilbert, Catharine Morris, Gertrude Morris and Olive Morris, bride-elect.

Auld Lang Syne Club

Fifteen members of the Auld Lang Syne club gathered Thursday at the home of Mrs. Arthur Stanley of Glendale where they enjoyed a happy day and greeted four guests, Mrs. Mary Utters and Mrs. Finch of Burbank, Mrs. Crawford of Glendale and Mrs. Gracie of Orange.

Mrs. Stanley used a profusion of roses to deck her home and the same motif was employed at the attractive luncheon table where dainty water color roses in delicate tints marked places for the guests at the bountiful luncheon was served.

At the afternoon business session, plans were made for the club's annual picnic to be held at Laguna in July.

ing of the W. C. T. U. were Mes-

Anaheim Elks Club Grooms Lionesses At Luncheon

No pleasanter setting could be devised for one of the social features connected with the Lions' convention than the Elks' home at Anaheim where yesterday the woman guests of the organization were delightfully entertained at luncheon while their husbands were enjoying a masculine affair at Birch park.

Gathering at St. Ann's Inn, convention headquarters, at 11:45 a.m., the hostess committee of which Mrs. Harry Hanson is chairman, was in readiness to greet all visiting "Lionesses" and had waiting, a number of automobiles in which the trip to the hospitable neighboring city was taken.

Approximately 300 persons were seated at the tables which seemed like a burst of sunshine with their artistic yellow decorations.

Yellow and white daisies in jars covered with the royal purple of the Elks, were the chosen flowers whose colors were repeated in the golden oranges at each plate, the fruit cocktail served in orange baskets, quaint little "buddie" dolls and other table appointments.

Bottled sunshine too, were the favors, individual pots of orange marmalade each with its glistening white blossom.

Following a most appetizing menu rendered still more pleasant by the strains of music from the Anaheim high school orchestra, Bob White, president of the Anaheim Den of Lions, in his capacity as toast master, introduced Mrs.
Harry Hanson who in a charmingly friendly little talk, emphasized the value of friendliness and then introduced the wives of presidents of the visiting dens. Mrs. Hanson also called all those present to rise to their feet, after which with an air of seriousness she declared:
"I am now introducing each one of you to everyone else."

Such a talk, together with community singing, served to engender a spirit of friendliness which seems to characterize all social events of the convention.

The formal program of the afterluncheon hour, numbers of which were announced by Mrs. White, was opened by the Santa Ana Lions' own Hazel Landers Hummel, who thru Ethel Troxell Thompson at the piano, gave a song group in her own charming manner.

"Will o' the Wisp," "On the Adrian Sea," and "Under the Lilac Tree," were the songs announced by the soprano, whose reception was so enthusiastic that she returned to give "Och the Dear Little Girl."

Howard Potter, owner of a beautiful baritone voice sang, "The Little Streams of Duna," and "Friend o' Mine," both of which were delightfully rendered.

Mrs. Harry Dyer of Long Beach, formerly of Anaheim, gave some charming bits of verse and a number of pianologues, all of her own work. Her numbers included "Let's Be Californians," "It Isn't Too Late to Begin," "When All the East Moves West," "Baby," "To a Little Bit of a Boy," "The Crystal Gazer," "A Land for Fairies," "Try Anaheim" and "It's Oil."

Professor Rohles concluded the program with a remarkable solo group including some of his own songs. One of these, "Mary and Jerry," will be used by Harold McCormack on his fall concert tour. Another, dramatically Egyptian in theme and treatment, was inspired by "Omar Khayyam," and was called "Allah" by its composer.

Following the program, Lionesses were guests at the famous Orange show, declared by Mr. White, to have been arranged solely in honor of the great convention which Orange county is happy to entertain.

"THE MAN WHO WAITED" AT YOST TOMORROW.

"The Man Who Waited," a film depicting a drama of stolen gold and stolen hearts in the Golden West, comes to the Yost theater tomorrow with Frank Braidwood in the title role.

The man of the title waited years to find the villains who ruined his father, but before he has his vengeance he falls in love with the daughter of one of them and is himself nearly a victim of their treachery.

"The Man Who Waited" was written and directed by Edward I. Luddy, and it is said that he has filled it with action and thrills, plot and romance. The cast in support of Frank Braidwood includes Inez MacDonald, Jay Morley, Don Maines and others.

"I do not like," says Pola Negri (above, right), who endeavored to have cats banished from Hollywood. But Gloria Swanson (left) came to their rescue.

Pola, Gloria In Cat War

'Scat,' Says Negri; 'Here, Kitty,' Says Swanson and Later Wins Hollywood Epic

By JACK JUNGMEYER
HOLLYWOOD, May 26.—Every mew of the Lasky studio cats testifies to the vanquishment of Pola Negri in one of many stormy tilts featuring her painful adjustment to the life on the American movie lot.

The cat episode, as witnesses relate it, has become a Hollywood epic, with the Polish actress and Gloria Swanson in the leading roles. And it is being used as a talking point by those who nominate her the most temperamental star in filmdom.

Pola, it seems, developed a deep aversion to felines. Soon after her pyrotechnical advent at the Paramount premises she ordered the studio pets banished, giving for reason a simple "I do not like."

Now heretofore there had been but the vaguest murmurs against her reported whimsies. Her refusal to accept the residence selected by Lasky officials had been meekly "yessed." Gloria Swanson had more or less graciously accepted Pola's usurpation of the best dressing room. The scenario department had moved out obedient to her orders.

Director George Fitzmaurice had merely gnawed his fingernails when Miss Negri periodically quit work, under plea of sickness, during the filming of "Bella Donna." Even her failure to recognize ladies to whom she'd been introduced was forgotten, if not forgiven.

But banishment of the studio pets—well, that plainly was the cat's meow and called for a showdown!

Miss Swanson instantly conceived an extreme fondness for felines. She ordered special milk deliveries for them. Let anyone who dared so much as tweak a single whisker on their poor heads! Bombs burst in air and Paramount prayed while Hollywood tittered—but the cats still wave o'er the Lasky ramparts.

The matter of working every day like an ordinary star came up again during the filming of "The Cheat," just finished. Disagreements with Fitzmaurice frequently resulted in "sickness." Pola would go home. Maybe tomorrow she would feel better. The orange juice, Marie! The hack, James!

At one juncture where the script required her to wear a necklace, Pola appeared without it. She "did not like." Pleading got no worse. Then Fitzmaurice loosed some four-square talk, threatened to resign and retired to his lair, so the story is told.

A few days later Miss Negri was permitted to see a long wire from one of the Paramount powers in which, it is said, there was casual reference to Valentino's fate. Thereafter "The Cheat" moved along more smoothly, although the director let his assistant finish the picture.

Pola's friends failed to help her psychologize America. She might have been spared many painful moments had someone told her that while temperament may still be regarded by the public as a privilege of indisputably great artists it gets emphatic thumbs down in the movie workshop.

Miss Negri's next picture for Paramount will be "The Spanish Dancer," originally designed for Valentino, and to be produced by Herbert Brenon. Meantime, she's resting at a California beach resort.

Gloria Swanson has gone east to do her next, "Zaza."

I. W. W. PLEA IS OPPOSED
PORTLAND, Ore., May 11.—The Portland post of the American Legion will today forward to President Harding a petition asking the President to pardon the heart of all appeals for clemency in behalf of "the Centralia murderers" and other so-called war prisoners.

"MARRIED PEOPLE" AT WEST END TOMORROW

The announcement that Mabel Ballin is coming to the West End theater tomorrow for an engagement of two days in her latest picture, "Married People," will prove of real interest to those picture fans who remember with pleasure the work of this dainty star in "East Lynne" and "Jane Eyre."

"Married People" is the picture which the Ballins are now engaged in producing for Hodkinson release. Unusual interest is attached to this production, as it is the work of a little Chicago stenographer who walked away with the $1000 prize, recently offered by Ballin for an original story.

Mabel Ballin and Percy Marmont are cast for the leading roles. Others in the cast include such well-known actors as Ernest Hillard, Dick Lee, Louis Dean, Bertha Kent, J. Webb Dillon, and that talented child actor, Little Bobby Clarke.

"THE BUSTER" ON YOST SCREEN TONIGHT

You will see Dustin Farnum in the role of a woman tamer in his latest production, "The Buster," which comes to the Yost theater tonight.

It is a novel and fascinating part, and the robust movie idol acquires himself in a fashion that will thrill the most blasé of picturegoers. "The Buster" tells the story of the rough, handsome Westerner, who is called upon to tame a beautiful, but temperamental society belle from New York.

"TRIFLING WOMEN" AT PRINCESS TUESDAY

Damon Navarro, who plays the part of Ivan in the Rex Ingram screen production, "Trifling Women," which shows at the Princess theater Tuesday and Wednesday, had a struggle of his own with the monochrome that he wears in playing motion picture roles. But he finally became an expert, so expert that he feels qualified to rival a young English subaltern of whom he was told in war days.

The subaltern was given charge of a company of Australians to drill them. He came himself on the drill field wearing a monocle. The Australians, new to English officers, found the monocle a thing of humor. There were titters in the ranks. And even several guffaws and sarcastic remarks, which the subaltern overlooked.

The next day the "Aussies" came on the drill field, each wearing his identification disc stuck in his eye as an eyeglass. They did not have much success in holding the discs in place.

NOTED SONG WRITER ON YOST VAUDEVILLE.

The three leading song writers of America are acknowledged to be Irving Berlin, Al Piantadosi and Harry Von Tilzer. Al Piantadosi is to appear at the Yost theater tomorrow as the headline attraction.

Piantadosi is known to the world as one of the foremost composers and he brings with him a company that will win instant favor in Santa Ana. He features his own compositions and many other surprises. Piantadosi wrote, "I Didn't Raise My Boy to Be a Soldier," "Baby Shoes," "Sweetheart," "That's How I Believe in You," "Cowbells" and scores of other popular pieces that are known to everyone.

NO SUBTITLES IN RAY FILM AT WEST END.

To Charles Ray, star of "The Old Swimmer" Hole," now showing at the West End theater, falls the honor of being the first to tell a story on the screen without words. In the whole six thousand feet of film where ordinarily there would be at least from sixty to ninety subtitles of an explanatory nature there is not one.

All well-made pictures for some time past have sought to eliminate unnecessary subtitles but heretofore it has been deemed impossible to make the continuity intelligent without them. Titles have been carefully phrased and distributed throughout the changing incidents of the action to make the picture clearer since the cinema evolved from a toy, but all the while the picture makers realized that ultimately a picture would be produced that told its own story.

A curious test was made with Ray's picture before releasing it. Several trial audiences were asked to write if they observed any departure from established usage in its presentation.

"THE GO-GETTER" COMING TO TEMPLE SCREEN.

Long Island commuters who recently got home to cold dinners and wrathful wives several nights blamed it on "The Go-Getter," the Peter B. Kyne story, directed by E. H. Griffith, which comes to the Temple for four days beginning next Thursday.

JORDAN THROWS MOTOR ROW IN FLURRY WHEN CUTS MADE

Decreased Overhead and Increased Buying Are Assigned As Reasons

EFFECTIVE TOMORROW

Rumors of Increases Are Offset Somewhat By Firm's Action

With predictions recently that prices on motor cars were due for a boost, the Jordan Motor company today threw a bomb into automobile circles with the announcement that, effective tomorrow, reduced quotations would be made on its line.

In a telegram to the automobile editor of the Register advising of the revision downward, the Jordan Motor Car company, intimates that other manufacturers may soon announce cuts.

"Downward revision is made possible by decreased overheads, due to the large volume attained by the leading manufacturers during the past several months," declared the company.

Local agents for other makes today discounted the statement that there is possibility of declines in other lines, basing their statements on the general belief that conditions point to advances rather than declines.

"With knowledge of the production of the factory and the big growing demands for Jordan products, we have more or less anticipated the time when the manufacturing company would make the announcement it has today," said Otto Kolberg, of the Orange County Garage company, local distributor for the Jordan.

"The sweeping increase in sales, with consequent increase in production to meet the demand, convinced us that lower prices would be made for Jordan products."

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—The death-bed accusation of Alexander McCoskey, who died late yesterday from two bullet wounds in his back after he told his assailant prepared to bury him alive, resulted today in a murder charge being filed against C. H. Converse, held in the county jail here.

Trades Association Convention Set For June 4 and 5

With Catalina as the place of meeting, many members of the California Automobile Trades association today were making preparations to attend the southern district convention of the state organization to be held Monday and Tuesday, June 4 and 5.

According to Herbert O. Davis, secretary of the Orange County Motor Dealers association, many Orange county men and women will attend the session. It is expected a large number will go to the island next Saturday.

Frank Merriam, of Long Beach, speaker of the assembly, is one of the scheduled speakers.

Harry Mason, of Los Angeles, president, and Robert Martland, of Oakland, secretary, of the state organization, will be present.

Tire Business Is Steadily Growing Cord Dealer Says

Gordon McLellan, who last week announced his purchase of the General Cord tire agency and business of L. E. Martin, 211 North Main street, today declared that business with his line of tires is picking up and the outlook for future expansion was most promising.

McLellan was agent for the General in the northern part of the county, acquisition of the local agency giving the wholesale distributing right in Orange county.

While maintaining a tire store at Anaheim, McLellan is giving his personal attention and time to the Santa Ana agency, directing his county operations from here.

IS OPTIMISTIC OVER OUTLOOK IN COUNTRY

Looking ahead, H. M. Jewett, president of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car company, views prospects for business prosperity in this country within the next few years with the fullest optimism.

In a statement received here by Edgar and Hays, he states that the present day prosperity is due fundamentally to sound conditions and a falling off in world competition, chiefly due to the World War and revolution in Europe.

That conditions here are sound is beyond argument in the opinion of Jewett. He says that the average business man learned a lesson

SAYS FORTUNE AWAITS AUTO ENGINEER

Millions In China Looking For Substitute For Wheelbarrow

Fortune awaits the American automobile engineer who can develop a one-track machine for use in China, according to Prof. J. F. Donaldson, former instructor in the Fullerton high school and junior college, and now conductor of tours in foreign countries for the American Express company.

He declared that 400,000,000 Chinese are awaiting the development of a motor that can be substituted for the wheelbarrow.

"The man who develops a single track automobile for use in China can put Henry Ford in the shade for wealth," declared Donaldson.

"In the foreign lands one of the first things to attract the interest of the tourist is the fact that American-made automobiles are found everywhere."

"Whether the traveler be in the heart of Siberia or China, he will find the American motor—and they are not all 'Tin Lizzies' either."

"The medium-priced cars predominate. Each section seems to have its favorite. The Hudson predominates in Japan, the Studebaker six in Hong-Kong, Grant and Hupmobile in Peking, and the Chevrolet in Java."

RED BIRD OVERLAND IS DUE NEXT WEEK

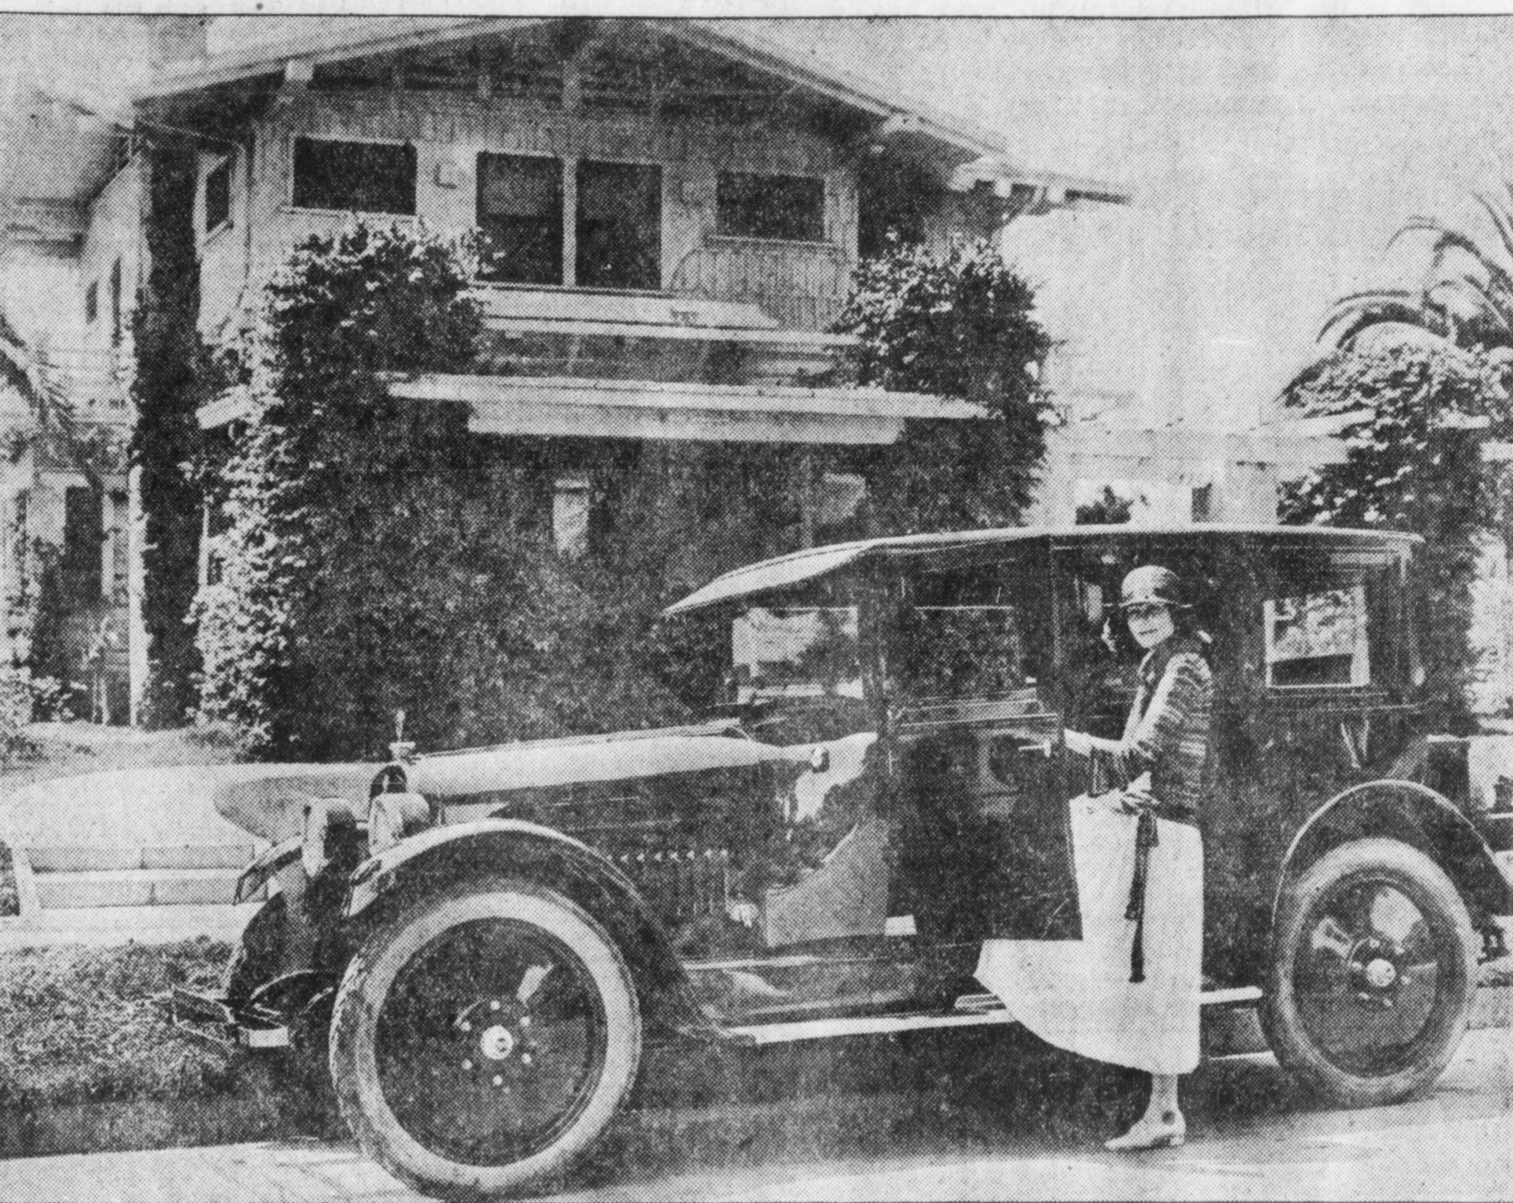

According to George Ash, of the Overland Santa Ana company, a Red Bird demonstrator is due to arrive at the local agency next week. The Red Bird is a five passenger car that has been sold exclusively in Canada for the past two years and has become very popular.

It is now being introduced in the United States as an addition to the Overland line. The first model of the Red Bird shown in this county is now being exhibited at the automobile show at the California valencia orange show.

It is the property of Albert Sitton, Overland agent at Fullerton. "The Red Bird is not a mere 'dressed up' Overland," said Ash. "It is a new, bigger and better car than the low priced Overland. It is a real classy looking car, selling at $915 in California. Everything about the car suggests quality."

ISSUE WARNING AGAINST RIDE FOR KIDDIES

Sheriff Sam Jernigan, today added his voice to that of officials of the Auto Club of Southern California in warning motorists to steel their hearts against boys and girls seeking rides.

The officials and Jernigan pointed out that this is the time of year when the "young idea" turns its thoughts backward, and that the lure for the young people is tremendous as the month of May passes into June.

It was pointed out that it is rapidly becoming the custom of boys and girls to take their bathing suits in hand and walk out on the roads leading to beaches in anticipation of picking up a ride with some generous motorist.

"Serious consequences sometime result from granting of requests of boys and girls for a ride," declared Elmer Heidt, manager of the Santa Ana branch of the Auto Club of Southern California.

"Not only does it encourage children to run away from home, but it also paves the way for potential automobile stealing."

"Automobile thieves take up their 'profession' at an early age and an official investigation into the reasons for this has disclosed that free rides encourages children to a free and easy manner with motor cars."

In line with the general warning is the additional warning that it is hard to distinguish between a young man legitimately desiring a ride and one who desires to crack the automobile owner over the head and steal his car.

Automobile club officials say that there have been so many instances of youthful bandits carrying a lead pipe in their pocket for just this purpose that the club feels that motorists should make it an iron-clad rule not to pick up strangers on the highways.

MANY FACTORS IN GOOD TIRE MILEAGE

"Phenomenal tire mileages are a source of perpetual amazement to the average car owner," says Roy J. Lyon, local distributor of Millers. He wonders how it is that his neighbor can get 25,000 miles out of a tire whereas the best he can do is 10,000.

"Contributing to long mileages are a great many factors. It isn't that the manufacturer builds more miles into one tire than he does another. It has been long the case that Miller tires, for example, give uniformly long mileage."

"The tire which escapes destruction until it has traveled an unusually long distance can attribute its long life to the kindness of fate, but more especially the kindness of its owner."

VALENCIA SHOW DISPLAY SEEN BY THROGS

Displaying what is declared to be the largest and best assortment of automobiles ever assembled under one roof in Orange county, the automobile display at the California Valencia orange show at Anaheim is conceded to be a big success, according to Herbert O. Davis, who is in charge of the show tent.

A number of dealers report sales of machines. According to Davis virtually everyone who has attended the big orange show has manifested interest in the array of beautiful cars exhibited by the various dealers in the county.

One hundred and thirty cars are in the tent, with the classiest in each line occupying front space position in the exhibit units.

It is asserted that inquiries made indicate that hundreds of county residents are making preparations for purchasing new cars in the immediate future. The dealers have developed a great many good prospects. It was asserted by Davis.

The success of the show in the number of machines shown and the number of visitors viewing them insures greater interest by dealers next year in the automobile show.

Many Buick Sales Reported In Week

According to John W. Tubbs, manager of the Reid Motor company, Buick touring cars have been delivered to the following Santa Anas the past week:

City Councilman Claude L. Killen, John C. Briar, C. H. Kridley, C. M. Rowland, the Rev. W. H. L. Benton, Miss Myrtle Meyer and George Baxter. A touring car also was delivered to R. B. Bird, San Juan Capistrano. A touring sedan was delivered to Mrs. Elsie L. Anderson, Huntington Beach.

GARDNER DISPLAY MADE AT ANAHEIM

Accessibility of the Gardner five-bearing crankshaft motor is demonstrated by a display at the Valencia orange show, Anaheim, and is attracting much favorable comment, according to Nelson Peterson, who is managing the display for Lantz Brothers, 517 North Main street, Santa Ana local Gardner distributors.

"While the five-bearing crankshaft does away with all vibration at its source, resulting in frequent motor repairs, the accessibility of the motor is a very desirable feature when repairs are to be made," said Peterson.

"The Gardner was the car that won in class 2-E in last Saturday's economy run to Camp Curry, a distance of 360 miles. The Gardner used 12½ gals. of gas, 1 pint of lubricating oil and 3 pints of water. The ton mileage was 49.92."

VACATION TRIP LURES SHOWN BY CLUBMAN

Longer and longer vacation trips are getting more and more "style" for the motorists of this part of the state, according to Elmer Heidt of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

ORGANIZATION SOUGHT HERE BY ANDREWS, JONES FOR PROGRAM

American Legion Decides Not to Sponsor Another Junk Race

MAY ASSIST CHARITY

Contenders Prefer July 4 For Second Clash of Ancients

BY HORACE FINE, Register Automobile Editor

Automobile race enthusiasts of Orange county in all probability will be given an opportunity to witness another racing card on July 4, it became known today, following announcement by D. D. Andrews, manager of the Pasheley Motor company, that he and "Buck" Jones, of Huntington Beach, had agreed to hold their challenge race on that date.

At the same time, Andrews announced that if no organization in the city wanted to conduct the program as a benefit, that he and Jones would arrange for a card, with profits of the affair being divided among some of the local charitable organizations.

The American Legion post Thursday night decided not to sponsor another race.

The proposed Fourth of July program is the result of the Auto Resurrection day races, May 5, when machines owned by Jones and the Pasheley Motor company were the real contenders in the twenty-five miles event for men, until the Chevrolet was put out of commission on the thirteenth mile by an accident.

Through the columns of the automobile section of The Register the Pasheley Motor company issued a challenge to Jones for a repeat race. Jones accepted.

That Jones and Andrews are good sports, and want to race purely for the sport was evidenced by their agreement that five or six other machines of the same type as the Ford and Chevrolet might enter in the competitive race with them.

No Definite Plan

While nothing of a definite character has been decided, the two men tentatively agreed that a qualification should be established for machines to enter in the same race with them.

They suggested that cars that can make the mile circuit in about one minute and twenty-five seconds

TRIPLEX SPRINGS PATENTED DEVICE

Triplex springs on the Overland car are a specially patented device with a great many superior qualifications, according to George Ash, of the Overland Santa Ana company.

"They are a unique method adopted by Overland engineers in mounting the springs so that the load of the Overland is carried as if cradled between the two extreme points of the car," said Ash. "The ends of the springs are 130 inches apart and the body rests on them just as if in a hammock. Everyone has at some time or another seen a man trying to push a wheelbarrow up over a curbstone. The wheelbarrow wouldn't go so the man turned around and pulled it over, which demonstrates that what the man could not do by pushing could be done by pulling. The same principle applies to Overland triplex springs. They extend from the extreme front end of the car down to the front axle and continually pull the front wheels over any and all obstacles and obstructions in the road."

into Mexico for his summer outing. "In order to gratify the inclinations of some of the long-distance travelers, the club touring bureau has secured a lot of up-to-the-minute information on the national parks with which the western part of America is particularly favored. "If you only want to go a little ways from your own fireside, the country offers the Sequoia and General Grant parks, and the Yosemite. The National Park of the Grand Canyon is going to have a lot of auto visitors this summer. Also in the club's list is included Crater Lake national park, Mount Rainier national park, Glacier national park, Yellowstone national park, Zion national park, Mesa Verde national park, Lassen volcano national park, and the Rocky Mountain national."

WAGER IS WON BY LONG BEACH DEALER

"Bragging about the strength of a Cleveland Six cost Frank L. Darling, Long Beach, California dealer, a lot of time and trouble to back up his boast, but he won a nice fat wager as the result," says L. E. Carpenter, local Cleveland Six distributor.

"Darling was expounding upon the virtues of the Cleveland Six to a Long Beach merchant and remarked that a Cleveland could pull as big a load as a five-ton truck. The merchant took issue on that brag and put up a wager that he meant business. A huge platform was built and fitted over the body of a strictly stock model Cleveland which had been driven 30,000 miles.

"Fifty-two men stood on the platform, while the car was driven through the streets towing a four-ton truck in which eight more men rode," Darling said.

"There were 8,000 pounds dead-weight load on the Cleveland itself and 16,200 pounds tow-weight, making a total load of 24,200 pounds.

"Darling reports most of an hour's run about the streets of Long Beach was made in high gear—proof of what a Cleveland Six will do."

In the 1920 business collapse, when either the man or his friend was caught with an unbalanced inventory when money tightened up and the deflation process took place.

Jewett then turned to world competition, lack of which he believes gives the business of the United States an unprecedented opportunity. Present day expansion indicates that business is grasping it. "England today is back in the saddle," said Jewett. "Germany, France, and Russia are not."

"The latter's lack of world commerce is our principal asset, due to this mammoth country having once been the food basket of Europe, due to the cheaper transportation of its grain into the market. "The farmer, always last to attain the plane of prosperity of industries, banking, etc., finds in this condition a widening of his market and consequent increase in prices for his product.

"Russia is not likely to come back for many years—in fact she will be last to regain her former position, due to her political situation's grasp upon everything, including the farmland. When she does our farms will be so firmly entrenched in their markets that even heavy underselling could be offset by the large surplus automatically built up in America."

ends should be permitted with engines limited to the same cubic inch displacement as the Ford and Chevrolet.

It has been suggested that two or three other racing events be programmed in order to make a full afternoon entertainment. Andrews expressed the belief that a program of the character proposed would attract thousands of spectators on the national holiday.

The Economic Importance of Oil Business

Oil is the fundamental source of manufacture, transportation, light, heat and power. It is for this reason that civilized nations are constantly seeking new fields for its development and we see diplomats wrangling to hold precious oil territory, for they well know that the nation that has the largest reserve for the supply of oil will eventually dominate the commerce of the world.

Expressing these views in general, Will E. Chapin of the "3 for 1 Oil Royalties Special Trust," continued:

"We are told by a recent writer in the Saturday Evening Post that 'Money From Everywhere' is being poured into California and will continue to come here for investment. There is no reason why our citizens should not take the means of achieving a competence here that those from other states so eagerly avail themselves of. The newcomers, many of them being retired bankers and business men, are putting their money into oil and are reaping large profits."

"It is pretty good advice," concluded Mr. Chapin, "which admonishes people to place their money where people who know how to make money have put theirs. An oil royalty costs little. Those '3 for 1' located in the richest part of the Signal Hill field, in the Lovelady Pool, in which there has never been a dry hole, are held at $180 each. Such royalties have the same financial standing as any other good security. They pay monthly dividends, and there are neighboring wells that pay as high as 20 per cent monthly on the investment. These royalties are non-assessable and transferrable, and in the case of 3 for 1 give an interest in the combined product of three wells for a single investment."

BARROW AND LEWIS BUY OUT BUSINESS

Accepting an opportunity to engage in business for themselves, V. A. Barrow and C. D. Lewis have purchased the local battery agency and business of West brothers, 211 North Main street, and today were in full possession of the business enterprise.

His friends point out that he is recognized as expert in battery repair and service, and today were predicting that he and Lewis would make a big success.

Lewis has been with the Roy Beals repair shop, in the same location, and is regarded as an efficient automobile man.

"It is our purpose to give a real service to motorists needing battery and ignition service," declared Barrow. "We are going to make it a service in performance and not in name."

More than half a bushel of peanuts was consumed on an average by each man, woman and child in the United States last year.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY TO BE HELD JUNE 5

The high school senior class play has been set for June 5 instead of June 6 as formerly planned.

The junior high school commencement will be held in the high school auditorium June 6 at 8 p. m. and high school commencement June 8.

One of the outstanding interests of the high school commencement this year is the valedictory address by the student in the class having the highest scholastic record.

Miss Enid Twist, formerly vice-president of the student body, and at present editor of The Ariel, has been chosen class valedictorian, holding the highest record in the class.

It is becoming increasingly more important to hear from the students at commencement time, say those who are interested in the plans, and the institution of the valedictorian address will add greatly to the interest of the important school event.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS RETURN
BREA, May 26.—Royal Neighbors from this place, Fullerton, Santa Ana, Orange and Anaheim, have returned home today after attending the eleventh annual convention of the southern California district of the order held this week at Bellflower. The next convention will be held in Torrance.

SUGGESTS AIR COPS.
SANTA MONICA, May 22.—Air cops will soon be patrolling the heavens above Santa Monica, if plans suggested by Lieut. C. C. Mosely, commandant at Clover Field, are adopted. Recently the government selected Clover Field as an aerial headquarters. Mosely's "air rules" will prohibit "flying fools" from stunt flying, give low altitude fliers the right of way and make it compulsory for pilots to have licenses. Mosely's plans were submitted to William H. Carter, Mayor S. L. Berkley and Commissioner F. A. Helton, who feel provisions should be made for air regulation.

ASKS AMERICAN VIEW
WASHINGTON, May 22.—The League of Nations has asked the United States to present its views regarding the proposed international convention restricting the private manufacture of arms, it was learned at the state department. This government previously declined to be a party to such a convention. The new request indicates, state department officials said, that the league wants the United States to submit some plan to which it could adhere.

Astounding New Prices On JORDAN Cars

Now Jordan challenges the world.

Record-breaking sales—unprecedented volume—have made possible astounding new prices.

Quality and service made Jordan sell—volume makes prices.

Now Jordan is the lowest priced car of its quality in the world.

Thirty thousand happy owners know that is so.

Ninety-nine per cent of all Jordan owners still drive their original cars or have bought new Jordans.

Owners know Jordan comfort—the best balanced car on the road.

That explains the low service expense. Thousands of miles without spending a dollar.

It's the lightest sturdy chassis built in America. Gasoline and tire mileage remarkable.

Takes famous hills on high—leaps lightly to throttle—crawls quietly on high in traffic press. That's performance.

The Jordan is designed to run 200,000 miles. Hundreds of Jordans in mountain service have done it. That's endurance.

Jordan has the highest resale value of any car in its class.

That's why ninety-nine percent of our owners never change. It's a good investment.

We could cut the quality of Jordan cars tomorrow—and with Jordan reputation make millions quickly—then move to Palm Beach.

But we have thirty thousand owners—many hundreds of dealers—whose confidence we have won.

Besides, we have our own children—and we want their respect.

We have made the Jordan better, reduced the price as public approval brought volume.

And we will continue to do that whenever our rapidly growing success warrants.

New prices effective May 27, F. O. B. Santa Ana. War tax Paid.

LEISURE TIME MISUSE PERIL SAYS GIRL

The misuse of leisure time is a community menace, according to a statement issued here today by Miss Mildred E. Wiley, director of community service in Santa Ana, in answer to a question propounded by herself, "What is community service, and what are you trying to accomplish in Santa Ana?"

"We must realize," said Miss Wiley, "that increased leisure becomes an asset or liability in proportion as provision is made for the wholesome use of this leisure. 'The moral, stiv and physical health of a community depend largely upon adequate opportunities for wholesome recreation. Community service takes the 'red' out of recreation. It re-creates the participants.

"In our leisure, we are 'just folks'. We are not employers or employees. Creed and affiliations are forgotten. At community gatherings people come together as citizens, unlabeled, undivided.

"Examples of mis-spent leisure can be multiplied indefinitely. The hours of freedom are community liabilities. The cost to the community in crime, vice, bad citizenship, unemployment, labor and labor turnover is appalling.

"We have always known a nation's strength is measured by its man power, but we have just begun to realize how the quality of that power, the morale of men, can be improved.

"An ever-increasing number of city and federal governments are providing for social and physical recreation for their people. Will Santa Ana be content to give its children, its young men and women less than other cities?"

BURGLARS ALARMED OVER

ATTAR OF ROSES FRAUD

SOFIA, Bulgaria, May 25.—The adulteration of attar of roses, one of Bulgaria's most interesting and profitable industries, has developed to the point where the government has found it necessary to intervene. Essence of geraniums has been used in the debasing of this perfume, and so skillfully that it has been difficult to prove the presence of the cheaper and more common extract. The result has been very detrimental to trade in genuine attar of roses. It has not only weakened confidence in the purity of the trade product, but has had disastrous effect on prices. The government has introduced in parliament a bill appropriating 1,000,000 leva to be offered in prizes to scientists who discover a process for the certain detection of the presence of adulterants in Bulgarian attar of roses.

ONE SOLDIER ON GUARD

NEW YORK, May 22.—One lone American soldier still remains at the watch on the Rhine, although the army of occupation has moved out of Coblenz and the Stars and Stripes no longer wave over the fortress of Ehrenbreitstein. Lieutenant P. J. Davis of the division of criminal investigation, who arrived today on the steamer President Roosevelt, said he left the one soldier behind to clean up some investigation.

Roger Hornsby Named In Man's Divorce Suit

ST. LOUIS, May 26.—Roger Hornsby, star second baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals baseball club, and batting champion of the National league, was named in a divorce tangle in the court of domestic relations today.

John A. Hine, automobile salesman, in a petition to set aside a decree of divorce granted his wife in February, submitted a letter signed "Rogee" said to have been posted at Bradentown, Fla., the spring training camp of the Cardinals. The letter, which was dated early in March, P. was addressed to Hine's wife, the petition asserted.

Hine in his petition to set aside the decree, charged, it was obtained by fraud. The divorce was granted on charges of non-support. Fourth hearing on the case was postponed until June 1.

NOVEL DAMAGE SUIT.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 25.—A damage case with a decidedly unusual feature has been filed in supreme court by the Troy Laundry company, which has been assessed by a Douglas county district court jury the sum of $4500 for injuries sustained by Rosa C. Peterson. It asks a review of the case and a reversal. The unusual feature is that the truck that injured the girl was driven by her father, Seth L. Peterson, who did not see the girl in time to stop his fast-moving vehicle, when he swung it around behind a passing street car. He did not know it was his daughter until he was upon her.

IRVINE FACES FAST L. A. NINE TOMORROW

Colored Team That Played Major Leaguers to Show Wares at Bean Town

The Los Angeles White Sox, regarded as the fastest semi-professional baseball team in the Southern California ranks, will play the Irvine club at Irvine tomorrow afternoon. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

The White Sox club is composed of colored players and contains many of the men who a year ago last winter engaged the major league all-stars in a series at Los Angeles and won a majority of the tilts. Critics agree that several of the team are capable of playing major league baseball if it were possible for them to break into the big tent.

The Irvine team has been moving along at a rapid gait during the past few weeks, having defeated such teams as the Anaheim Elks, U. S. S. Idaho and the Riverside Colored Giants.

"Dutch" Hinrichs heaved a no-run, no-hit game last Sunday and the big right hander has a chance to start in right where he left off against the Idaho nine and pitch several more hitless rounds. Hillard ("Toughy") Tyrrell will be stationed behind the plate.

Ed Cutting probably will be at first base with Ralph Mitchell at second, "Shorty" Rogers at third and Pete Duhart at short. Neal ("Flash") Raney, Johnny and "Bab" Arambel and Beck Lanfranco will do outfield service.

Tommy Prepares To Pitch His Camp As Champ Goes Fishing

SHELBY, Montana, May 26.—Eddie Kane, manager of Tommy Gibbons, was to arrive here today to prepare the way for his challenger's combat with Jack Dempsey here July 4. Gibbons will pitch camp Monday and begin active training.

Dempsey decided to lay off for a week and go up into the mountains on a fishing trip. Any doubt as to finances was dispelled today when the promoters announced there was enough cash in Montana banks right now to pay Dempsey the remainder of the $300,000 guarantee he is to receive.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., May 26.—Joe Benjamin, Pacific coast lightweight star, sprained his hand at Jack Dempsey's training camp here today in a friendly bout with Frank Powers, New York middleweight.

Following the accident, Dempsey declared all bouts between members of his stable taboo. The champion said he would do all the necessary hanging around.

BEARS, BULLDOGS IN TRACK TITLE CLASH

Yale Given Chance to Cop National Championship From California

(United Press Staff Correspondent) PHILADELPHIA, May 26.—

Those well known battlers, the Bear of California and the Bull Dog of Yale, will tear and drag each other around within the stony walls of the Pennsylvania stadium this afternoon for the "intercollegiate championship" on track and field.

California, champions of two years running and Yale, the joke of two years straight, each came out of the preliminaries with almost an entire team qualified to go into the semi-finals and finals.

The weather was perfect this morning; the sun popped out of a clear sky and there was hardly enough push in the air to get the flags moving on the top of the California flag.

California is considered almost sure to win and the "experts" among the coaches and former athletes were speculating on the margin by which the westerners would become champions for the third straight time.

While some track records may be made today it is hardly possible that any new marks will be made in the field events and two were set up yesterday in the trials and the same marks will hold good for the finals if not bettered.

Storrs, the Yale star, made a new record in the javelin throw with a toss of 199 feet one inch, and Tootell, the Bowdoin Giant, broke all records when he threw the hammer 181 feet six inches.

Alfred Leconey, the LaFayette star, was shooting at the record in the 100 and 220 yard dashes during the trials and he may set up a new mark if he is pushed today.

The games start this afternoon at 2:30, Daylight time.

ORANGE ATHLETES RECEIVE LETTERS

ORANGE, May 26.—Coach H. M. Davis yesterday morning presented his athletic teams with their letters and gave to the senior football men sweaters. Hollis Shewalter has the distinction of being a four year football letter winner in this sport.

Jimmy Crawford was given a gold medal by the coach for maintaining a certain standard in athletics.

Howard Murphy, basketball captain, gave to Mr. Davis a gold basketball as a symbol of the team's appreciation for his work.

Coach C. T. Sproull gave his 110 pound team lightweight letters and Coach King awarded emblems to his 130 pound men.

As a symbol of the Southern California lightweight championship the student body gave to Mr. Sproull and his "Fleas" a handsome silver loving cup.

Howard Thompson, as captain of the fifth period gym class was given the loving cup awarded to the champion class in basketball.

It was stated today that the girls' letters are to be awarded during the assembly June 7. At this time the girls' gym classes are to present several dances. It is planned to invite the public and in this way evade the work of producing a May festival.

All plans are in the hands of Miss Porter and Miss Dannemann, the physical directors.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 26.—(Office of the Fruit World)—The market on California oranges presents practically no change over a week ago. The heavy supplies of oranges in all markets are being worked off as rapidly as possible. When these supplies are reduced sufficiently shippers look for an immediate improvement in the market. Shipments the past two weeks have been held in check in a satisfactory manner. With not over 150 cars of navel and miscellaneous varieties of oranges remaining for shipment from Southern California districts and approximately 800 cars of Valencia remaining in Tulare county, the attention of the trade must necessarily center on Southern California for supplies of Valencia the balance of the season.

F. o. b. California quotations, usual terms, are as follows: Tulare county Valencia, $2.50 per box; Orange county $2.25; other Southern California districts, $3. There is very little cash business reported at the present time. Orange county growers are holding for 4 and 4½¢ per pound for their Valencia.

The setting of oranges on the trees for the 1923-24 crop is heavy, giving promise of a bumper crop barring unforeseen changes between now and the marketing period.

LEMONS

There is a good demand for California lemons in all markets except the South where cool weather and a surplus of foreign lemons is responsible for a light demand.

F. o. b. California quotations are on a basis of $5.00 to $5.75 per box for Extra Choice fruit. Choice, 50¢ per box less.

Western Financing For the West

THE Pacific-Southwest has more diversified resources than any other similar area in the world.

Nowhere is produced a greater variety of agricultural products, or as many minerals. Practically every raw material is found here, together with natural facilities for manufacture and transportation.

The problem has been financial. Eastern money centers could not adequately understand or serve western needs. Therefore, the west must develop a financial power equal to its own credit demands.

The Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank, with its inter-community system serving the individual cities and the district as a whole, is playing an important part in the solution of this problem.

INDUSTRIALS SHOW STRENGTH OUTBURST

Recovery Is Rapid Among Issues That Bore Selling Wave Brunt

(By United Press Leased Wire)

NEW YORK, May 26.—If any doubt lingered that the recent drastic decline in the market had been carried to excess in view of the many favorable factors in the current economic situation, it was effectively dispelled by another outburst of strength among the leading industrial stocks at the week's close.

So rapid was the pace of recovery in issue like California Petroleum, Corn Products, Studebaker, Baldwin and American Can, which bore the brunt of recent waves of selling, that the short element in stocks of this descrip-

PRICES ON CHICAGO BOARD IN DECLINE

Heavy Liquidation Cause of Slump In Grain; Crop News Factor

(By United Press Leased Wire)

CHICAGO, May 26.—Heavy liquidation in grains caused prices to decline on the Chicago Board of Trade today. Wheat selling was induced by the total lack of export demand, coupled with a report from Liverpool declaring that Russia would have 14,000,000 bushels of wheat available for export this year. A few unfavorable crop reports filtering in from parts of Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska were insufficient to offset the liquidating pressure. Springfield, Mo., reported some damage from Hessian fly while an expert wiring from Indiana declared crops generally in good condition and that the winter kill in that state would not be as serious as contemplated. An excessively weak wheat market caused prices in corn to drop. The Corn Products Refining company, one of the largest consumers of cash corn, withdrew from the market and the South and Southwest declared practically no demand existed in that territory. Traders believed the market had been overbought for some time. Oats declined with other grains as a result of continued favorable crop news. Speculative demand was absent.

The Advice of Your Home Banker Helps Other Business Men

ONE of the most helpful things that happened to business in this country came about when the banker moved his desk out of the private office into the general banking room.

Just notice the next time you go to the bank and you'll see why.

One man after another accepts that unspoken invitation to sit right down alongside and talk things over.

A manufacturer, then a farmer, a commission man, a lawyer. Men in every walk of life.

Probably not more than one in ten is there to talk about loans or deposits. Most of them have come in to talk things over—to get an outside viewpoint.

Your home banker makes it his business to keep in touch with general conditions all over the country and abroad. He sees something of every activity in your locality.

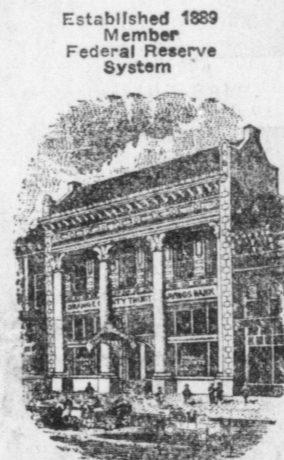

You'll find him more than willing to help you—perhaps in ways that you never thought of before.

WHITE STAR Oil and Refining Company

We're building the casinghead plant, to yield 13,500 gallons of casinghead gasoline per day; we have our refinery site at Wilmington, right amongst the biggest companies of California; we're already securing rights of way for the pipeline from Santa Fe Springs; we have our 10-acre loading wharf at the Harbor (and what other independent can say that much); and all these go to create dividends for first investors, who come in prior to incorporation and secure the ground floor terms.

This issue is only $500,000; sold in blocks of Two Shares of 8% convertible Preferred at par, $100 per share, and accompanied by an outright bonus of One Share of Common stock with each Two Shares of Preferred. Remember, in five days last week, we sold over $100,000. That is over one-fifth of the issue gone in five days! It indicates how well investors regard this opportunity to share refinery profits—and it demands some fast action on your part, to get your subscription into this office. Make out your check for as many shares as you can afford, and mail it to us, pinned to this announcement.

Here, indeed, is a gem of a four-room house constructed along English lines by Fay R. Spangler, the architect, for J. R. Mayer. The plans of the house were made a reality under the personal direction of the architect, himself. The framing construction and the foundation is unusually heavy for house of this type. The house fits its setting among wonderful trees in such harmonious manner as to make one feel that it really belongs there. It is of stucco construction with a shingle roof of blended reds and browns. On entering the living room, one finds a splendid room with half-timbered and paneled red wood ceiling, finished to resemble South American iron wood. The walls and woodwork have been treated to an antique finish with which monks' cloth draperies happily blend. A wrought iron lighting fixture and several wall fixtures fitted with parchment shades are part of this fine room. An artistic Batchelder mantle and chimney occupies one end of the room with desk and bookcase on either side. The living room, like the entire house, is floored with oak. Through a French door, opening off the living room, one receives a charming view of a patio which contains a fountain and pool. Two cheerful bedrooms with large closets are located on the north side of the house. Between them is a very smart, tiled bathroom. The walls and woodwork of the bedrooms are finished in antique ivory. In one of these bedrooms, a clever effect has been obtained by papering the door panels to match the walls of the room. The kitchen has a tiled sink and splash board; plenty of pantry room; and, swinging type bins for storage. A De Luxe heater and special dishwashing attachment at the sink completes the kitchen equipment. A roomy breakfast nook opens off this room. Laundry equipment is to be found on a roomy porch accessible from the kitchen through a glass door. Kawnear-Simplex windows with roll screens have been used throughout the house. One of the two large closets in the hallway is lined with white cedar. A garage, 20 feet in depth, built in perfect harmony with the house is at the end of a driveway on the south side. This driveway passes the patio with the fountain and pool, and shrubbery.

Visitors will be welcome to inspect this house, starting tomorrow. J. C. Horton Furniture Company have furnished the house throughout in a manner which reflects credit upon their ideas of artistic interior decoration. The Mayer house was built by Santa Ana contractors whose cards appear on this page. It is for sale and the selling price will include all street improvements and planting of yard to lawn and shrubbery.

VERMONT VILLAGE HONORS FUGITIVE

BRISTOL, Vt., May 25.—A memorial to an escaped convict is to be erected in this little town in the heart of the Green mountains. The man, who killed a neighboring farmer in Unadilla, N. Y., was John Broodt, a Dutchman. The Outlook club, a woman's organization of Bristol, is going to place a suitably inscribed stone marker on the site of his log hut at the foot of South Mountain because Broodt was the first white man known to have settled within the limits of the present town.

Broodt had a dispute with his neighbor in Unadilla over a line fence between their farms. A fight followed and the neighbor was killed. Broodt was convicted of murder, but escaped, bought ammunition, fishing tackle and other necessities at Whitehall, and fled into Vermont. In the dense forest near South Mountain, a mile south of what is now Bristol village, he ended his flight. There he built a log cabin and remained in solitude with his faithful dog for 12 years without seeing another white man. When found by a surveying party in 1785 he was clad in deerskin and his dog, which he said had been black when he entered the woods, was nearly white.

Broodt was pardoned later. The stone chimney which he built was standing until a few years ago and even now the dilapidated hearth marks the spot of his hermitage.

BOAT WORKS FOR BALBOA POSSIBLE

BALBOA, May 26.—A boat works at which any kind of yacht, speed boat, motor boat or yacht tender could be constructed is a possibility for Balboa, it became known here today with the announcement of preliminary plans by J. B. Wooly, Long Beach; C. E. Dudley, Los Angeles; Frank D. Shaw, Santa Ana; Willard Bowman, Santa Ana and James McGee, Santa Ana, for the construction of the plant. Fifty skilled artisans would be employed.

Bull Steel Special
Shaw has in his possession plans for a steel motor boat which those associated with him any many of his friends consider will perform wonders in the water in the way of speed. At the present time all boats built for speed purposes are constructed of wood. Shaw figures that steel will not only be more durable than wood but by a plan of his own a more powerful engine.

San Pedro Considered
A Santa Ana architect is preparing the plans for the boat plant. In case Balboa is not selected the men plan on building at San Pedro, it was considered.

To Test Authority On Finance Officer

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The question of how much power lies in the hands of the government's young financial dictator, Comptroller General J. R. McCarl, who claims to be superior to cabinet members, is soon to be carried to President Harding. The Supreme court may be called upon to make the final decision.

McCarl, a conscientious young Nebraskan, has already overruled Secretaries Denby and Weeks, refusing to approve disbursements from the Navy and War departments, and is now in a controversy with the Department of Justice.

The latest dispute, that with Assistant Attorney General Seymour, will be aired before President Harding this week.

Cabinet Alarmed
Cabinet members, alarmed at McCarl's rigid authority, hope that the President will be able to draw the line of the comptroller's power. Hitherto, he has clung tenaciously to the letter of the law, which gives him the final word in expenditures.

There apparently is no way around him. He was appointed by the President for fifteen years as provided when the office was recently created in connection with the budget system. He cannot be removed except by a joint resolution of Congress, whom he represents before the bureau of the budget. It is not likely that Congress will remove him, since he is carrying out a strict program of economy that Congress could not afford to disavow.

FOR CITRUS SCALE

Rosin soap spray is especially good to use for scale on lemon and orange trees. Use one pound to about three gallons of water. A thorough spraying is almost as effective as fumigation, if done at the proper time. Kerosene or distillate is often added, but should be used with care to prevent burning of foliage and fruit. We handle the Rosin soaps in one, three and forty pound cans.

Start at one of the squares shown in the diagram and move in a horizontal or vertical direction into another square. Move from that square into another and continue with the remaining squares. If you make the correct moves you will thus trace the names of twelve colors; each name takes up three squares. No square may be used twice, and all the squares must be used.

Yesterday's solution:
A room with seven corners had a cat in each corner, six cats in front of each cat, and a cat on every cat's tail, the room must have contained just seven cats. For the other six cats were in front of each cat, and each cat was on its own tail!

PROUD OF THE LIONS

Santa Ana has been very proud of the fact that it has had the opportunity this week of entertaining the Lions of California. The high standards set by that organization in community life wherever its clubs are located has put the Lions into the forefront of community assets. The personnel of the delegations attending the convention are warranty of the standing and influence of the clubs they represent.

The rapidity with which Lions clubs are being formed alone proves the high value placed upon the work of the organization. District Governor Ray L. Riley's report to the convention brought this question of growth into bold relief. A year ago there were twenty-eight Lions clubs in the district, and today there are fifty-three. That is a remarkable growth, and the growth is a remarkable tribute to the Lions.

Back of this club, as the fountain head of its enthusiasm and spirit, is the ideal of service. The members of a Lions club, wherever it may be, have in mind the acceptance of and the making of opportunities for fulfilling their ideals.

The manner in which the Santa Ana Lions club has handled the convention is deserving of the highest praise and commendation on the part of the citizens of Santa Ana. This is the largest convention held by the Lions of the district. The Herculean task of preparing for the entertainment of these hundreds of guests was undertaken with enthusiasm and good judgment.

The convention will go down in the annals of the Lions clubs of the state as entirely successful in the hospitality extended and in the handling of the thousands of details that came up during the gathering.

CULTURE AND ADVERTISING

At several points along the coast at Laguna Beach, Nature has built, in the rough, the finest of Greek theaters. The excavation and grading, and even the terracing in some instances, has all been done, in large part, by the wash of the waves, the roar of the rain, and the wild winds from off the stormy sea.

And what a majestic setting is there! The actors would "lift up their eyes to the mountains whence cometh their strength" and inspiration. The auditors would look out upon a moonlit sea, and far beyond the rim of the world their mind's eyes would vision the ancient prototypes of the plays that would be presented.

These thoughts are suggested by a double-page cut of the Greek theater at Berkeley, used as the principal illustration for that very interesting article, "Sarah Bernhardt, Wonder Woman" in the current Pictorial Review; and we are reminded that California affords the scenic and climatic advantages that make it the natural center of the world for pageants and open-air programs of all varieties.

The announcement of the completion of the coliseum at Los Angeles, which is to seat 80,000, and the construction of Greek theaters in some of the smaller communities of the state, show how rapidly the idea of the open-air theater is gaining favor.

In addition to the opportunity afforded to enrich the cultural life of a community, such institutions have an advertising value that is far-reaching in its influence, and the boosters for the "Beach That is Different" might well capitalize, both culturally and materially, the wonderful work that Nature has done for them in this respect.

THE HOME OWNER

A home owner, in a letter to his newspaper, gives an unusually convincing answer to the eternal question, "Does it pay to own your own home?" It may be cheaper to rent, he admits, and yet home-owning pays, financially as well as in other ways. He explains, from his own experience:

"I found a home owner acquires almost immediately a standing in his neighborhood and community—he loses that nomadic taint which seems to stick to a rent payer. I also found that one becomes more ambitious to save under the altered circumstances—becomes a bit proud of his possession—takes pride in keeping up the property—is interested in civic and community affairs in a very real way as a taxpayer direct, and has a satisfaction that is worth a lot of money even though it can not be realized in just that way.

"My wife and children have been far happier in their new environment, and if 'dad' has had to hustle a little harder to meet the financial obligations, it has done him good—and he has something very tangible to show for it, whereas before the landlord had it all.

"The home owner has a different slant on the problems and interests of his time, and he gets that way just because he is one."

This ought to settle the question for many a family that has never known the satisfaction, the incentive to thrift and the all-round stimulus that come from home ownership and responsibility.

AMERICAN DOLLARS ABROAD

Europe is said to be hoarding American money. Not American gold, which is almost impossible for Europeans to obtain, but American paper. There are hints that our paper dollar may come into general use on the other side of the ocean as it has already in Cuba, where there is said to be $100,000,000 of American money in circulation. This is considered important for two reasons.

It shows European confidence in our finance better than anything else could. Foreign peoples almost universally prefer gold or silver, and the only paper money that has ever come into anything like general use internationally in the past has been Bank of England notes. Here is proof of the world's belief that our money is the soundest in the world, and that the promise to pay in gold or silver which is printed on every bank note can be taken at its face value.

Also, widespread acceptance of our paper money abroad as what a financial writer calls "international currency" will enable the United States to continue holding its vast share of the world's store of gold, and even to continue increasing that store, without upsetting international finance and trade. America then will be simply holding the gold reserve for the world's medium of exchange.

There are vast possibilities in that, for financial power and trade extension.

THE "S. P." DOING QUITE WELL

The Southern Pacific company (entire line) operating in California, Nevada, Utah, Oregon, Arizona and New Mexico, reports to the Railroad Commission for the year 1922 that its operating revenue was $195,705,452.61; operating expenses $138,268,426.67, giving a net operating revenue of $57,437,025.94. Miscellaneous non-operating revenue amounted to $30,639,056.35. Interest, rent, taxes and other deductions totaled $63,168,352.57. The net corporate income for the year was $24,907,729.72. The surplus at the beginning of the year amounted to $192,249,596.54. Miscellaneous additions to surplus for 1922 amounted to $1,747,517.60 and miscellaneous deductions were $511,109.60. The company declared dividends of $20,662,854.32 during the year, leaving an accumulated surplus at the end of the year of $197,730,879.94.

Geography By Newspaper

San Bernardino Sun.
Pin a map of the world on the living room wall, follow the daily news on the map and acquire a knowledge of geography better than that offered by most study courses.

Every part of the world today is strangely, thrillingly active. Every paper records its share of these activities. One day it is a great reclamation project in India. The next, the papers record an epochal railway opening in Alaska. Tut's tomb beckons us to Africa, the European news to Ireland, England or France, to central Europe or the Near East where nations are milling around like frightened cattle.

Palestine and Paris occupy the front page side by side. Russia starves or threatens. Germany discovers a new trade route to Persia. Australia wants to kill its rabbits. There is civil war in China. Japan makes a new move.

All the countries of North and South America meet at a great conference in Chile. Central America steps to the front with peace pacts and archaeological discoveries. A number of municipal, state or regional matters throw first one section of the United States and then another into relief.

Hardly a country in the world or an island of the sea but has its line or column not in some stuffy atlas, but right in the daily press.

To follow these matters merely as current news is broadening in itself. To supplement reading with map study is to become a citizen of the world, with all its physical and political divisions, its land masses and connecting water, its cities and the routes between them growing as familiar as streets of the home town.

Geographical knowledge and mental horizon expand together. Five minutes at the map a day will do it.

Fathers Foes, Sons Classmates

Pasadena Star-News.
The son of the late Maj. Gen. Frederick Funston is to be a classmate at West Point of a son of Don Emilio Aguinaldo, former insurgent leader in the Philippines. This does fate play queer pranks. It was the distinguished father of young Funston who effected the capture of Aguinaldo by his clever a piece of strategy and as daring an adventure as has been accomplished in modern times. The story of General Funston's feat is too fresh in the public mind to need recounting.

That the sons of former foes should become cadets in America's great military academy is indicative of the rapid dissipation of enmities and the march of peaceful progress. Aguinaldo, senior, no longer is an enemy of America, but its friend. He is a pacific and wise counselor among his people and is doing as much now to foster peace between Americans and Filipinos as he once did to stir up strife and insurrectionary war. As wards of Uncle Sam, these sons of fathers who once were pitted against each other, will be trained to give patriotic defensive military service to this Nation, should necessity require.

Coast Defenses Weak

Long Beach Press.
California's coast defense works are not what they should be. Secretary of War Weeks, with his first inspection after entering this state, pronounced the defenses at Fort Rosecrans, San Diego, obsolete. The official inspection up and down this coast will show fortifications to be lamentably inadequate, it is believed.

This condition should receive the corrective attention of Congress without delay. So long as it is necessary, for the national safety, to maintain defenses, they should be strong enough to insure the country against successful attack. It would be folly indeed to stop short of adequacy in defenses. Why have defensive works at all, unless they be sufficiently formidable to deter potential enemies from attacking this country, and sufficiently strong to repel any foe if this country were attacked? Coast fortifications are of the utmost importance in any comprehensive scheme of national defense. For any attack upon this country by a first-class power must come from the sea.

Congratulations For Burbank

San Francisco Chronicle.
Both Luther Burbank and Santa Rosa are to be congratulated upon the festival celebration of his golden jubilee as a worker in Sonoma county, Burbank as a prophet honored in his own country and Santa Rosa for its power to appreciate the qualities of a man whom it sees every day. Not every city everywhere has been able always to do that. Santa Rosa has abundant reason to do honor to Burbank. A good man and citizen, one of the famous personages of his time, he deserves it for his own sake. And in another sense Burbank claims the gratitude of every Sonoman. He is the greatest advertisement for Sonoma soil and climate that any county could possibly have.

Burbank is to be congratulated. Few are the men who can enjoy in their lifetimes such sincere and disinterested homage as that which comes to him. One of the reasons is surely the fact that all these honors leave him a simple and modest man. Note how large a part the children are playing in this festival. Children by the millions are his admirers. That in itself is the highest praise and the greatest glory of Burbank's jubilee. Congratulations, Luther Burbank.

Beating the Government

Redlands Facts.
A millionaire investor can buy himself free of federal and other taxation by investing in a bond of an Oklahoma county. He may pay something more for the bond than if it were not tax-exempt but he will not pay a sum at all commensurate with the value of the federal exemption.

Just how much longer it will take to remove the tax-exemption folly cannot be estimated but it is safe to say that it will not long be possible for those least able to pay taxes to continue to pay double taxes in order that those most able to pay may escape all forms of taxation by placing their funds in tax-exempt securities.

Aside from all local taxes, the amount the government loses on the income tax is enormous and keeps the rates higher for the rest of us.

Spoiling the Act

A Little Talk on Thrift

By S. W. STRAUSS, President American Society for Thrift.

It is unfortunate that many persons look on thrift merely as a miserly attitude toward life.

It is deplorable that this false and harmful conception of thrift is often given encouragement by those who mean well but who are unaware of the ill-effects of such teachings.

It is well to bear these thoughts in mind, particularly at this time when one hears occasional references to a "buyers strike."

Ruskin's famous analysis of economy is appropos. "Economy no more means saving money," he wrote, "than it means spending money, it means administration of a house; its stewardship; spending or saving, whether money or time, or anything else, to the best possible advantage."

This is advice that can well be taken at this time. Economy is always advisable, but only harmful effects can result from a system of economy that merges into miserliness.

The question of correct spending as well as correct saving is one of far-reaching importance because, while the elimination of waste and extravagance are always desirable, the general cutting down of legitimate expenditures to the point where the general business of the country would be adversely affected, the wheels of industry stopped and unemployment precipitated would most assuredly be a false example of thrift.

Ruskin's analysis correctly places as much importance on correct spending as on correct saving. Success and progress are not the results of penurious practices.

True thrift is progress. Hence those who are truly thrifty keep business on the go because they spend wisely as well as save carefully. The money which comes into their hands does not lie dormant; neither does it go for purposes that are not uplifting.

Through the careful administration of the thousands of our thrifty people money is kept flowing through channels that mean national progress as well as individual development.

ORPHEUS

I looked on him whose marble mansions gleam
High over Delos—did the Siren sing?
Who hears their music, sitting in the light
Of this immortal features

They are soonest, reach
The shining field where shades of heroes walk,
Who, spurning passion, rise with even souls
O'er this your madness,—as an eagle hangs Above the thunder in the sunshine poised.

Your voices call me from my lofty dream.
Yet think not that my spirit stoops to share
This pulse of music throbbing at my heart
Until the speaking wires shall give me back
Some fragments of the voices of the gods.

IN THE LONG AGO
From the Register Files

MAY 26, 1909

The board of education last night refused to pay the prices asked for two pieces of property on the south side of Tenth street between Main and Bush. H. C. Dawes asked $2950 for two lots at the southwest corner of Bush and Tenth, and Mrs. Ellen Burdick asked $950 for her house and lot in the middle of the block. The Monahan property across the street, with a big house on it, with a frontage of 125 feet on Main, 250 feet deep, was offered for $7700. The board wants the property on Tenth, however.

Miss Beth Phillips was elected secretary of the school superintendent to take the place of Miss Myrtle Millward, resigned.

Some Odds and Ends

CUCKOO

With good luck, radio fans this summer may pick up a strange voice from the far north. That will be Donald B. MacMillan, famed polar explorer, aboard the good ship Bowdoin.

MacMillan is on needles and pins to learn what effect his radio will have on Eskimos. "When we showed them a regular wire phone," he says, "I found one of them at one end of the wire. He would yell and then run to the other end of the wire to try and hear the sound of his own voice."

This gives you a laugh. But we can't help wondering what the Eskimos would think of some of the equally cuckoo things we do in politics, business and our everyday lives.

$1.30

Gasoline to sell for $1 a gallon? Impossible, don't get alarmed, a Standard Oil official said last spring.

However, gasoline costs $1.30 a gallon in South Africa.

This brings to prominence a farmer in the Orange Free State. He has invented a new motor fuel made from the juice of prickly pears and it's retailing at 45 cents a gallon in his country. He has based on the process by accident.

Necessity has been called the mother of invention. So has laziness. Its third parent is chance. Even old man Roentgen discovered X-rays by accident, which is just another way of saying that nature hands it to us on a platter.

"OVERHEAD"

The French government built 3300 military airplanes in 1922, England only 200. The English, however, are not as fearful of being bombed from the air by French raiders as some of us are apt to gather from our fragmentary reading of European news.

What worries them most is voiced in the House of Lords by Lord Birkenhead. He is alarmed chiefly at France "expanding large sums on these enormous armaments while owing us immense sums which there is no prospect of our receiving either at present or in the near future."

SWEET

On a farm near Brattleboro is a tree from which white men tapped their first Vermont maple sugar. That was in 1764. This old tree, still as erect as a steel pike, should have a monument when it dies. It started a big industry. Some thirty-five million pounds of maple sugar are produced each year in America, a third of it in Vermont.

What wonderful friends and benefactors the trees have been to us! Yet we continue destroying our forests—killing the goose that lays the golden eggs. Forest preservation is the greatest problem of our many national resources.

EXHORTING

Old-time bookbinders at the Levey Printing plant in Indianapolis comment that in the old days Bibles were rebound over and over again, while now there are very few.

Does this mean our generation is using the Bible less? Not according to the binders. Their theory is that there are not as many "fighting parsons" now as there used to be, and the Bibles do not receive such rough treatment.

This will start many gray-haired people reminiscing. Do you remember when a preacher could be heard a block away on a clear summer's night when the church windows were open?

MAZUMA

More money is deposited in the banks now than ever before in history. Combined bank deposits total 43 billion dollars, or $390 for every man, woman and child. Figure it up for your family, whether you are above or below the average.

A queer thing: No man seems to have as much money now as during the big boom of 1919 (barring the very rich), but bank deposits are nearly 6 billion dollars more than then.

A fabulously rich country, these United States. Money in the bank is not more than a sixth of our national wealth.

DIPHTHERIA

The diphtheria death rate has been cut in half in the last three years by using the Schick Test, announces Dr. Hermann M. Briggs, the N. Y. commissioner of health.

So another dread disease is getting under control, its virtual elimination only a matter of time and sense. One after the other, science conquers the germ maladies. Yellow fever is as good as gone. Smallpox is becoming rare.

Pasteur, father of modern bacteriology, declared it "within the power of man to cause the parasitic diseases to disappear from the surface of the earth." People laughed at him—then. Now if he begins to look as if he were right.

POKER

Prof. Hung, highbrow Chinese, touring our country, says Chinese generals are playing poker against each other, using human lives as their stakes.

"The north China general," asserts the professor, "will say, 'I'm going to send 1000 men against you.' Then south China general replies, 'I'll raise you to 3,000,' and so it goes on."

That is the chronic situation in Europe also, the main difference being that Europe's gamblers are "statesmen" instead of generals.

Health Notes

TESTIMONIALS AND PATENT MEDICINES

"The fallibility of human testimony is notorious. Although the power of observation possessed by most of us is poor, we are likely to become most positive in testifying to what we have seen or to what we think we have seen. Caution in expressing opinions is not a common trait."

The Scotchman who could never be tempted into making an explicit statement was a specimen of an unusual type. It is recorded that on one occasion an attempt was made to get this cautious Caledonian to express himself without qualification. A flock of sheep, freshly sheared, was being driven past his house and he was called to the window and asked if it were not a fact that the sheep were sheared. His reply was that "they seemed to be on the side he could see."

Dr. Arthur J. Camp in the June issue of Hygeia says, "In addition to such testimony given in good if misguided faith, there are other forms that are more or less frankly purchased." Both varieties have been extensively used by the manufacturers of nostrums and patent medicines and have been accepted more or less at their face value by those who have not the information to realize their fallaciousness.

SCRIPTURE

Love not sleep, lest thou come to poverty; open thine eyes, and thou shalt be satisfied with bread.—Prov. 20:13.

By Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 15—THE TATIE PATCH.

It was Farmer Brown's potato patch that kept the Ragdies the busiest.

From the very first minute the potatoes started to grow, there was trouble. The little green shoots went up into the air and sunshine and daylight of the potato field, and the little brown roots went down through the ground into the dimness of Raggy Land.

But when Farmer Brown stood on his porch and said, "My, my! But the potatoes are growing fine!" he never suspected the things that were happening under the ground.

In the first place, there were the spring rains. It rained and it rained all through April and part of May. Just because the dark green potato shoots grew so fast people said, "That's good growing weather. Just see!"

But I'll tell you what was happening. The Ragdies robed up their sleeves and dug ditches to carry the water away. If they hadn't, Raggy Land would have been flooded and the tatties washed clear out of the ground.

Then came dry weather when there was no rain at all, at all.

The young potatoes just forming on the ends of the roots, opened their sleepy eyes and said, "We're thirsty. Please give us a drink."

So the Ragdies carried water from the brook in their little buckets and watered them.

Nancy and Nick were as busy as nailers helping. In their magic shoes they looked like Ragdies, too. And nearly as ragged, for their clothes were almost worn out with farming.

Then the potato-bugs! They just sat there in their striped coats as though they owned the place. They had to be chased every day.

But it was fun. The Twins liked being useful.
